

Tammy Reed Reigns As 'Little Miss'

Sunshiny skies and warm weather added to the brilliance of the crowning of Tammy Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman, 430 John St., as Little Miss Pumpkin Show, Wednesday afternoon.

The petit little-red head took top honors as she was judged from among 134 candidates. She was sponsored by the Mound Street School where she is a first grade student.

Reigning on the Mini Queen court are, Darla Brown, first attendant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Brown, Route 5, sponsored by Washington Township School and Michelle DeLong, second attendant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeLong, Route 1, Laurelville, sponsored by DeLong Builders.

The court was selected after judges narrowed the little candidates to 34 and then to 10. The judges then talked personally, a first in the contest, to each of the ten finalists before making a decision.

Pumpkin Patter

It's a long way from Kunson Air Force Base, Korea, to Circleville, but a true Roundtown native wouldn't let a little thing like the Pacific Ocean stand in the way of a visit to Pumpkin Show.

Sgt. Dennis D. Sowers has been in Korea for 6½ months, has returned home for the Pumpkin Show and a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sowers, Parkview Ave. and his wife, the former Kathy Forrest, and daughter, Alisa Lynn. He will return Oct. 27 to complete his tour of duty in Korea.

All the exhibits this year are at the Pickaway County YMCA Building on East Franklin. There just wasn't a room available in the downtown area to rent for Pumpkin Show.

Ben Gordon received a telephone message from Mrs. Ted Lewis Wednesday, regretfully reporting she will be unable to attend Pumpkin Show this year. She returned to Roundtown on many occasions with her famous entertainer husband to visit the annual event. Ted got his start in the world of music playing the clarinet for the Circleville High School Band and marching in early Pumpkin Show parades.

The Circleville Art League has a trailer at Pumpkin Show. Members of the league have their work on display and for sale at the trailer located in the Second National Bank Parking Lot.

Back to the old diet next week, but this week its pumpkin pancakes in the morning fried by Clark Martin and his crew at the Kiwanis Booth, soup at the second Baptist Church soup kitchen, fish at the American Legion stand, sausage sandwich at the Logan Elm Boosters, hamburger at Teays Valley Boosters, chicken noodle soup at Amanda-Clearcreek Booster, hot dogs at the Stogie Club Booth (the oldest one at Pumpkin Show), pumpkinburgers at the Decca booth, pumpkin pie at

Pumpkin Show Wins First World Series

Pumpkin Show won the battle of the pumpkin Wednesday, nipping challenger Half Moon Bay, Calif., by nearly two-thirds of Ralph Dreisbach's world-champion Red Hungarian.

Dreisbach's whopper outdistanced the Half Moon Bay competitor in every category, according to results of the telephonic contest carried out by Ned Harden and Mel Mello, mayor of the small California community.

Harden listed attributes of Dreisbach's squash to begin the World Series of Pumpkin. The statistics are 40-inch length, 36½ inch length, 104½ inch circumference, and 368 pounds.

The later figure had to be repeated twice by Harden.

Half Moon Bay's retort, grown by

Tom Menaidis, was 25-inch length, 28-inch width, 77-inch circumference, and 131½ pounds.

Complaining that the world-record holder must be filled with buckshot, Mello immediately demanded a rematch for next year.

Harden, who said the Pumpkin Show would welcome the opportunity to again show its superiority, offered to send a pumpkin reject to Half Moon Bay, say perhaps this year's second-place, 315-pounder.

Officials from both communities will document their entries and exchange reports. However, Harden forbids the exchange of pumpkin growers, looking forward to the next World Series of Pumpkin.

In a black dress with red trim and a corsage of miniature scarlet roses, Miss May was crowned by last year's queen, Kymberly Timberlake. Miss May is 17 years old, stands 5-feet 5½-inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

Miss Diana Lorraine Caruso, Circleville High School's senior contestant, was named first runner-up to the queen. Miss Caruso is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Caruso, 531 Garden Parkway.

After holding the crown for two consecutive years, Circleville High School still claimed a high rank in the contest with Miss Caruso's position as first attendant.

The evening's activities began when the 12 contestants were dinners guests

Pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital by Dr. MacNelly, Holt suffered massive head and chest injuries.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt, Detective Don Thompson, Holt was traveling south on the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road, north of Island Road when he went off the left side of the road down a 12-foot embankment.

The vehicle struck a fence post, which smashed through the windshield striking the driver. Continuing another 85-feet, the auto came to a stop after striking another fence post. The auto then began burning around the engine.

Two passengers, Dennis D. Vickers, 25, and Gregory C. Vickers, 18, 330 Walnut Creek Pike, pulled Holt's body from the mangled vehicle.

Deputy Holt used the cruiser extinguisher to control the fire until the Circleville Fire Department arrived.

Dennis Vickers was treated and released from Berger Hospital for multiple abrasions and bruises. Gregory Vickers was admitted to the hospital for bruises, abrasions and possible internal injuries.

The accident is still under investigation.

Born March 7, 1954 in Lancaster, Mr. Holt was the son of Harold O. and Annabelle Sites Holt, who survive at 133 Villa Drive.

He was employed at the L-K Restaurant in Circleville.

Other survivors include one brother, Donald Holt and one sister Tammy Holt, of the residence; paternal grandfather and step-grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Holt, Lancaster; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Sites, Fairfield, Pa.

The funeral service will be held 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Mader Funeral Home with the Rev. Roy Osborn officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 1 p.m. Friday.

ROYAL TRIO—The Lovely Miss Laurie May was crowned Miss Pumpkin Show 1974 during the first night of the festival. She is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. May, Route 1, and a senior at Logan Elm High School. Miss Diana Lorraine Caruso, right, was the judges' choice for the first attendant to the new Miss Pumpkin Show. Miss Caruso is the senior contestant from Circleville High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Caruso, 531 Garden Parkway. Westfall High School which claimed a member of the royal trio in last year's pageant came back again this year with another winner. Miss Lisa Creamer, left, was selected as second attendant. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kay Creamer, Route 2, Orient.

Ford Denies Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford personally told investigating congressmen today that there was no deal behind his controversial pardon of Richard M. Nixon. But he acknowledged discussing with a Nixon aide on Aug. 1 the possibility that the then-president might be pardoned should he resign.

In a lengthy opening statement he read at a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing broadcast nationally by television and radio Ford said:

"I assure you that there never was at any time any agreement whatsoever concerning a pardon to Mr. Nixon if he were to resign and I were to become President."

Ford detailed repeated contacts he had as vice president with Nixon's staff chief, Alexander M. Haig Jr., and defense attorney James D. St. Clair on Aug. 1 and 2.

In one 45-minute session with Haig on Aug. 1, Ford said, Nixon's staff chief reviewed a variety of options that included "the question of whether the President could pardon himself ... pardoning various Watergate defendants, then himself, followed by resignation ... a pardon to the President should he resign."

Ford said: "Gen. Haig wanted my views on the various courses of action as well as my attitude on the options of resignation. However, he indicated he was not advocating any of the options."

Ford went voluntarily before the subcommittee on criminal justice and the chairman, Rep. William Hungate, D-Mo., said the presidential testimony

"demonstrates his commitment to be open and candid with the American people."

Hungate said it was the first documented appearance by a sitting president before a committee of the Congress, although tradition holds there was an unconfirmed appearance by Abraham Lincoln before a House committee during the Civil War.

George Washington appeared before the first Congress in 1789, visiting the Senate chamber to discuss arrangements for Indian treaties.

The President said he met shortly after 8 a.m. on Aug. 2 with St. Clair, who told him of impending new revelations the lawyer regarded as "so damaging that impeachment in the House was a certainty and conviction in the Senate a high probability."

On the afternoon of that day, Ford said he telephoned Haig and "told him I wanted him to understand that I had no intention of recommending what President Nixon should do about resigning or not resigning, and that nothing we had talked about the previous afternoon should be given any consideration in whatever decision the President might take."

Ford said he had decided that, as vice president, he "should endeavor not to do or say anything which might affect his President's tenure in office."

At another point in his statement, Ford said:

"At no time after I became President on Aug. 9, 1974, was the subject of a pardon for Richard M. Nixon raised by the former president or by anyone representing him. Also, no one on my staff brought up the subject until the day before my first press conference on Aug. 28, 1974. At that time, I was advised that questions on that subject might be raised by media reporters at the press conference."

Ford's surprise announcement Sept. 8 that he was granting Nixon a full pardon for any crimes he might have committed as president triggered a major controversy and the accusations of a pardon-for-resignation deal.

The presidential appearance before the Hungate subcommittee originally was scheduled for last Thursday, but it was delayed until the jury in the Watergate cover-up trial was sequestered. Officials had expressed concern that widely-publicized presidential testimony could prejudice the jury.

Fair Weather Prevalent Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clear and pleasant autumn weather prevailed across most of the country today, marred only by a scattering of showers in the East and parts of the Great Lakes.

Temperatures overnight remained in the 40s and 50s in most areas outside the Deep South and the Southwest.

Southern California sizzled into the 90s Wednesday and more of the same was on tap today. Los Angeles sweltered through its hottest day in a year Wednesday, with a 99-degree high.

A cold front reaching from Maine to Florida continued to produce some showers in extreme eastern New England and North Carolina. Cape Hatteras, N.C., was soaked by nearly 2 inches of rain during the night.

Fog with visibilities less than a mile blanketed the northern and central Appalachians. Clouds also covered Michigan and eastern Wisconsin, resulting in light showers throughout Lower Michigan.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 78 at Key West, Fla., to 27 at Massena, N.Y.

Pie Winners Announced

Brenda Hoover, 128 Park St., was the Thursday winner in the Bake-A-Pumpkin Pie Contest.

Mrs. Fred Bower, 528 N. Court St., placed second; Mrs. Franklin Strous, Laurelville, was third; and Mrs. John Hapenny, 132 Park St., was fourth.

Judges were Cindy Weir and Brenda Burris of Columbia Gas of Ohio, and U.S. Navy Recruiter Lt. Ronnie Zasadani.

Wednesday's winner was Mrs. Charles Hull, 540 Greenacre Court.

Ohio University Funds Adequate

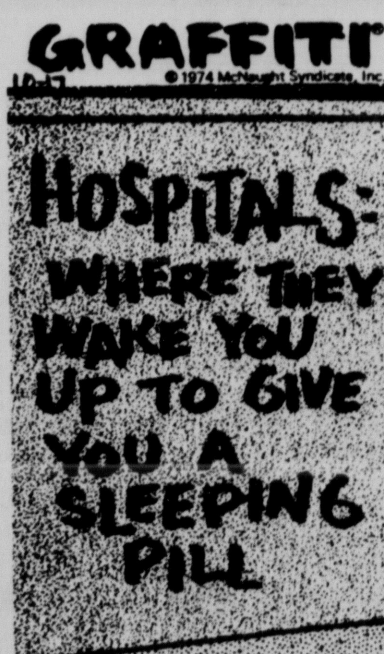

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Additional funds for Ohio University are unnecessary as a result of a decrease in enrollment from a year ago, university President Harry Crewson told a news conference Wednesday.

With adjustments and continuing frugality, Crewson said the school will have enough money to balance its budget. However, hiring will be suspended until at least June 30, he added.

Police Searching For Woman Escapee

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police are searching again for June Partridge, 31, of Cincinnati, who escaped for the third time in 32 months from custody Wednesday.

The first two escapes occurred while she was held at the detention center. Wednesday she walked out of a holding area and disappeared in the crowd in a busy courtroom.

Weather

Mostly sunny and warmer today, high, mid 60s. Clear and cool tonight, low, upper 30s. Sunny and cooler Friday, high, low 60s. Probability of precipitation zero per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 62; low, 40.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly higher today, regaining its footing after a broadly lower opening.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.16 at 647.45. In the early going, the Dow had dropped more than 2 points. Gainers were dead-even with losers on the New York Stock Exchange after declines held a 2-to-1 edge over advances in the opening hour.

The recovery in the Dow was in large part a reflection of the strength of a single stock — Eastman Kodak, up 3 3/4 at 68 1/4 in heavy turnover. The issue had moved sharply lower in the last two days as a result of lower third quarter earnings, but bargain hunting propped the blue chip stock up today.

Sony Corp., the most-active Big Board issue, dropped 1/2 at 5 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose 0.03 at 68.96.

The NYSE index rose 0.33 to 37.45.

The most-active Amex issue, Houston Oil & Minerals, added 1/2 to 25.

Sheriff Arrests Man In Hanna Stump Case

Leroy Clifford Fuller, alias Skip Lee Saylor, was fined $750 and costs and sentenced to 90 days in the Pickaway County jail, Wednesday for leaving a corpse near Deercreek.

His arrest stems from the Sept. 1, 1973, discovery of the body of Hanna Louise Stump, 18, Columbus, on a gravel parking lot off Route 207 near Deercreek State Park.

"We were sidetracked several times," Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said, "but never slackened our investigation of the case." Radcliff said his investigators did not believe the discovery of the body indicated a homicide.

The Sheriff's Department was questioned about Fuller's alias Monday by Columbus homicide officers after he was arrested in Washington C.H. for shoplifting under the name of Saylor.

Sheriff Radcliff located the man in Jeffersonville, where he was arrested.

Fuller said he and Miss Stump shared a house in Columbus under the names of Skip and Diane Holter before Miss Stump became ill and died.

Fuller did not want to be implicated in an investigation because he was wanted by Franklin County Sheriff's Deputies for carnal knowledge of a female under 16-years-old, burglary, and larceny.

He said he placed Miss Stump's body at Deercreek so it could be easily found.

Fuller, has served time in a federal reformatory for forgery and mail fraud.

Miss Stump died of natural causes brought on by lack of proper medical care, according to Radcliff.

Group Meddling In Bonn Affairs?

By ROON LEWALD

Associated Press Writer

A spokesman for Chancellor Helmut Schmidt told newsmen Wednesday that the American Chamber of Commerce in West Germany was "very close to interfering in our affairs" by distributing a study that criticized the so-called "co-determination" bill presently before parliament.

The bill would give workers an equal vote with shareholders on boards running the 650 largest firms in the country, including 50 subsidiaries of U.S. businesses such as Ford, General Motors and IBM. Employee representatives now comprise one-third of the board in every business employing more than 2,000 workers.

The Chamber has been hostile to the proposed legislation for months. The current row began when the Chamber distributed an independent study claiming the bill violates investment protection clauses in a 1954 U.S.-German trade agreement by limiting the rights of American shareholders over their own businesses.

A copy of the study was sent to Schmidt's office. One sent to the U.S. State Department included a request that Washington intervene in behalf of the American businessmen in opposition to the bill.

A Chamber spokesman said the

Rockefeller's Wife Also Cancer Victim

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller announced today that his wife, Happy, was undergoing surgery for breast cancer.

He described the surgery as a radical mastectomy in the left breast. He said the surgery started at 8:30 a.m. in Sloan Kettering Memorial Hospital.

"I'm confident that it's going to come out. All I can say is 'thank God' that she got in and that this country has such wonderful doctors," Rockefeller told a news conference in his Manhattan office.

The surgery came about a week after Betty Ford, wife of the President, left the hospital after undergoing a mastectomy herself.

Asked how it would affect his pending nomination for the vice presidency, Rockefeller responded: "I think at this time perhaps all of us should be thinking about Happy."

Rockefeller opened the news conference by telling reporters, "You won't believe what I'm going to tell you."

He said that Happy had discovered a lump in her breast last Friday. He said there were three small nodules.

He said that his wife was probably a little more conscious of the danger of breast cancer since the recent operation on President Ford's wife.

"As just one more family, we're just very grateful that it led to a checkup," he said.

ATLANTA (AP) — Physicians for Academy Award-winning Actress Susan Hayward say she is seriously ill but won't say what's wrong with her.

She underwent a biopsy at Emory University Hospital last July but the results of the test for cancer were never released.

Ford administration officials said in Washington they do not expect an early reply and classified the situation as "a delicate issue."

Drivers Cited In Accidents

Sixty-one-year-old Joseph R. Thompson, Detroit Ave., was cited by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Deal, for driving the wrong-way on a four-lane highway, causing a two-car accident, 9:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Thompson was driving north in the southbound lanes of Route 23, north of the American Legion entrance, when a southbound car, driven by Herbert A. Cummin, 52, Route 3, Lucasville, slowed to avoid a collision.

Thompson, seeing Deputy Deal approaching, stopped to turn around, when a third southbound vehicle, driven by John T. Karnes, 30, Route 4, Hillsboro, missed Thompson, but struck the Cummin's auto.

Deputy Deal cited Larry J. Carfrey, 17, Route 3, Orient, for passing without caution, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 10:12 p.m. Wednesday.

Attempting to pass two vehicles, Carfrey failed to see a car, driven by Sharon M. Chandler, 23, Route 2, making a left turn into the A & W trailer court.

No injuries were reported in either accident.

of the Pumpkin Show Committee at the Pickaway Arms. At 8 p.m. they were star attractions in the annual Miss Pumpkin Show parade. Under a cloudless sky, the beautiful sampling of the area's loveliest young women were taken to W. Main St. platform where the pageant was held.

This year's judges were Robert Zettler, chairman of the Central Ohio Miss America Pageant; John Potter, musical director of WTVN Radio; and William J. Finissi of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company.

The 12 contestants, selected by their junior and senior classes in the six area high schools, were called one by one to make their first walk across the stage.

Preliminary judging was done earlier in the evening as the panel of judges observed the girls during dinner and in the parade.

Each girl was then asked to respond to the following question: "I would like to be Miss Pumpkin Show because ..."

After a second appearance in which the girls were lined across the stage in the same order they were first introduced, the judges took time for final deliberations.

While the judges were making the all-important decision, Tina Rondolino Florida's Sungodess spoke to the enthusiastic audience about her first impression of our Pumpkin Show. Miss Rondolino was hostess to the 1973 queen when she and her escorts visited the Festival of States in St. Petersburg, Fla.

With a flourished announcement and ecstatic cries from the audience, the winning trio was presented. Each of the girls was given a bouquet of giant yellow mums and a ribbon designating her title.

Miss Timberlake welcomed her lovely successor to the stage and placed the shimmering tiara on Miss May's head. Wearing the crown, token of Pumpkin Show royalty, Miss May will spend the next year as a goodwill ambassador for the Roundtown festival.

Among the gifts presented to the new Miss Pumpkin Show are an outfit from Sharffs' Fashions, a gift certificate from Christopher's Don Boutique, and a year's free dry cleaning from Radcliffe Cleaners.

Miss May will visit a major festival in another state and although a final decision has not been made, the festival will be either in Michigan, Texas or Florida.

The dainty crown twinkled like a mass of stars in the strands of long dark hair as Miss May posed for photographs after the pageant. She said she "just couldn't believe it". After it was all over, she commented that the contest had gone so swiftly she wasn't expecting to hear her name called.

She will begin her exciting reign this evening on the Hugh DeMoss Show at 11 p.m. and will be featured throughout the Pumpkin Show in the magnificent parades.

Miss May's sister, Nancy, represented her junior class at Logan Elm High School in the 1966 Miss Pumpkin Show pageant.

Kym Timberlake, poised and radiant after her year's reign, made a final glorious appearance before her Pumpkin Show subjects. In a peach colored gown highlighting her soft features, she bid a grateful farewell to the title and the crown.

Although a new queen is crowned each year, the memories of that beautiful year as representative of Circleville and the Pumpkin Show, will live forever in each queen's heart.

A FAMILY PROJECT—The James Sutton Family won best of show award in the Christmas Decorations division of the arts and craft show. Martha Poling, director of the show, is shown with the project, designed and crafted by the entire Sutton family.

The Pickaway Shrine Club has a food service booth at Pumpkin Show for the first time ever. Proceeds from project are earmarked for the Shrine crippled children fund.

Parking places for cars are providing the most headaches for Circleville Police as the Pumpkin Show enters its second day.

Police again remind homeowners that blockades on streets are in violation of both city and state ordinances, will be torn down if found, and the owners will be arrested if caught by police.

No parking laws are being enforced all over the city. About 25 Pumpkin Show visitors received parking tickets Wednesday night.

It is illegal to park on the east side of Scioto St. between Mound and High Sts. and on either side of N. Court St. from Pleasant St. north.

One illegally-parked car was towed away Thursday morning.

Wednesday was the biggest-ever Pumpkin Show opening, according to Ned Harden, who estimated the crowd at 60,000 persons. And it was shoulder-to-shoulder through most of the day until the evening parade ended.

Circleville Police were aided in their foot-patrol of the downtown area Wednesday night by a contingent of four Rickenbacker Air Force Base policemen.

The sodium vapor lights, which greatly illuminate the downtown area, have no noticeable effect on black-and-white film. Professional photographer Ned Schreiner, who shot some test rolls last week, reported that color film produces the manufacturer's rated results, also. Don't forget the PS photo contest deadline is Dec. 1 for this year's picture.

With the price of sugar on today's supermarket shelves, most Roundtowners expected Pumpkin Show necessities like cotton candy and candied apples to be financially out of reach. But, a closer look at the signs on the various booths in the downtown area are surprising to say the least. Prices of these sweet treats have not altered so much since the good old days of last year when sugar was a staple instead of a luxury.

However, the ribbon was "picked up" so everyone is assuming that a real live somebody entered the pie. Since this is the time of year for ghosts and goblins you never can tell.

Grange News

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening in the basement of the Five Points United Methodist Church for their October meeting.

Harold Furniss, Worthy Master, presided over the business meeting and heard the various reports. The charter was draped in memory of our departed sister, Fannie Mae Bidwell. A "Thank You" note was read from Mr. and Mrs. E. L. The Pickaway County Grange Youth Installation Team will install Star and Mt. Pleasant Grange officers at the next meeting on Nov. 12.

For the program Mrs. Francis Furniss read, "Make A Rainbow" and "I Believe" and Laura Long read "Glad when it Rains" by the Lazy Farmer. Mrs. E. L. Sheets read, "I Remember", a poem taken from an old McGuffey's reader to close the program.

Mrs. Helen Hammel reminded the members of the up coming election on Nov. 5th, and urged every one to go to the polls and vote. She also explained the issues on which to be voted.

Seasonal refreshments of pumpkin pie, whipped cream, iced tea and cocoa were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michel, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Beathard and Jim.

Common Cause In Vote Effort

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's fledgling Common Cause organization is making its first statewide campaign effort in a project called OUTS — for "Open Up the System."

Daniel J. Swillinger, assistant dean of the College of Law at Ohio State University and chairman of the Common Cause steering committee, said the campaign consists mainly of an effort to determine and then publicize where candidates stand on important issues.

The Ohio organization, now with about 12,000 dues-paying members, held its first formal meeting in July. It has no paid staff but hopes to hire some people by the first of the year, Swillinger said.

As chairman of the steering committee, Swillinger is head of the state organization, which has units already established in all of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

"We have some semblance of an organization in every district and we're pretty well organized in 18 of them," Swillinger said.

He said the OUTS program consisted of mailing questionnaires to all candidates for statewide office, including those seeking the 99 seats in the Ohio house and the 18 senate seats at stake this year.

The questionnaires asked the candidates to state their positions on a number of timely issues, including full financial disclosure, ethics in government and open meetings.

Swillinger said the initial response has been good and that Common Cause hopes it can put the results together for release to news media and the public prior to the election.

Unlike polls that end when results are published, Swillinger said his group plans to follow their poll with a second effort after the election.

"That means we'll be looking these people up, the ones who are elected, and reminding them what they have stated publicly on these various issues," Swillinger said.

"We don't want just to inform, but also to effect change."

Common Cause charges members an annual fee of $15.

About 96 per cent of the organization's expenses come from the membership charge, but Common Cause does receive contributions and has been the beneficiary of wills, the chairman said.

A Page Of Opinion

Coal Approved

For years the Environmental Protection Agency has been one of the most severe critics of high-sulfur coal, frequently joining in the call for utilities and major industries to use more expensive low-sulfur fuels. Sulfur gases cause respiratory problems and damage buildings and other materials which are exposed to them.

In a reversal of past policies, EPA now says exhaust cleansing equipment installed on smokestacks has proved successful in removing most of the sulfur residue. In making its announcement the agency said large volume coal users equipped with the expensive devices are free to use high-sulfur coal again.

This coal is found in abundance in deposits in the eastern U.S., making it unnecessary, said the EPA, to strip mine public lands in the West. With the kind of exhaust cleansing systems now being installed, deputy EPA administrator John R. Charles

Jr. said, "This nation can make full use of its abundant supplies of coal without compromising people's health or creating unwanted sludge disposal problems."

That policy reversal comes at an appropriate time in the nation's energy crunch. The more utilities and major industries can be converted to coal, without significant damage to the environment, the less dependent the nation will be on foreign oil.

Wilbur Mills' Adventure

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON — The way I understand it, Rep. Wilbur Mills just happened to drop into the Junkanoo nightclub on Connecticut Avenue to inquire the way to Vespers.

How did he fall in with all those rowdy people? Well, that's easily explained. He thought they were just some fine folks from his district in Arkansas. He's running for another term, you know, and Congressmen — even the chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee — can't afford to take a chance of hurting anybody's feelings, right?

How come the 65-year-old moral force of the House of Representatives was in a big car the cops flagged down not far from old Tom Jefferson's monument, going like a bat out of heck and without lights?

Well, wise guy, it was Wilbur's car, and if a man doesn't have the right to get a little fresh air at 2 a.m., and save energy by not having the lights on, what's this country coming to?

But what about his bloody nose and those scratches on his face?

Glad you asked that, boy. Seems that one of those fine folks in the car, a Mrs. Anabell Battistella, must have drunk something at the Junkanoo that didn't agree with her. Anyway, she wanted to get out of the car while it was still speeding around the Tidal Basin.

That's when Wilbur tried to talk her out of such a crazy idea. Somehow, while he was bravely giving her the benefit of his fine wisdom, his glasses got busted and his nose started leaking. Been a lot of flu around Washington lately, you know.

Well, you know she finally got out of the car when the cops stopped it and she went over the rail and into the tidal Basin. Wilbur would have dived in and rescued her but he didn't want the cop who was holding on to him to fall down. Besides, if he had dived in to save her, it might have hurt her feelings. She knows how to take care of herself. She's a famous stripper whose stage name is Fanne Fox — the Argentine firecracker.

So where was Mrs. Mills? She would have been there, you can bet, but she has a broken foot. Besides, somebody has to watch the apartment, with all the burglaries Washington is having.

See? Another big misinterpretation floating around Washington these days is the unfair charge that the Rockefeller boys play fast and loose with their money.

Now the professional scandal-mongers you find around here are saying that Laurance Rockefeller tossed $60,000 in a scheme to discredit former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, when Goldberg was running against Nelson in the 1970 race for Governor of New York. The sixty went into the publication of a book entitled "Arthur J. Goldberg — the Old and the New." It was a hatchet job, penned by Victor Lasky.

Well, sir, when the news broke that Laurance Rockefeller had put up all that money to smear Nelson's opponent, Nelson was the most surprised man in town.

"Had he only told me about it at the time, I would have been totally opposed to it and would have strongly advised against his participation. As it was, in all the years since, he has never even mentioned the situation to me."

Probably because it was such a piddling little sum. Can't fault old Larry for that. He'd feel pretty tight-waddish mentioning peanuts like that,

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The American consumer, desperately seeking guidance through the tangled mess of his personal finances, has been told by the President to balance his budget, save, waste not, economize and "do it yourself."

The advice recalls the slogans and aphorisms that gently introduce every grade-schooler to the realities of the marketplace. They are the key words and phrases of home economics courses. They are women's page standbys.

They are familiar words also because they are practiced regularly by millions of homemakers, often out of necessity rather than from choice. They are the common sense foundation of any household's financing.

Nevertheless, while such advice might be the basis for good household economics, it hardly serves as the basis for a newly announced, voluntary national program to meet the inflation-recession crisis, an economic emergency that has been compared in some respects to the 1930s.

First, it is old stuff. It is the very advice that millions of American householders have practiced almost instinctively for months and years. Many a householder must wonder if President Ford is the last to become aware of such habits.

Second, it appears to demonstrate the inability of the administration, or in fact any institution or segment of American society, to come up with believable, substantial advice for householders.

The net impact, therefore, could very well be measured as a further drop in consumer expectations, especially since so many consumers had expected that a change of administrations would be accompanied by a change in strategies.

A University of Michigan consumer survey, for example, found 63 per cent in view of Nelson's giveaways.

Another fine statement lent fresh flavor to Washington this week. Chiang Kai-shek declared war on the People's Republic of China.

"There is only one course open to us, that is for our national revolutionary force to take up the vital task of blowing the bugle for counterattack, of destroying Mao Tse-tung's thought, and overthrowing the Communist regime."

The Washington Post, not wanting to incite the people to sign up for that war, or prompt Congress to send a B-52 to Madame Chiang, played the story 'way back on page 26.

of consumers felt that economic policy would change under Ford, although many expressed their opinion as a hope rather than a belief.

Now that substantial changes have not been forthcoming, disappointment is likely to be acute, and not to be assuaged by slogans such as "Whip Inflation Now," or by Presidential admonitions to make out a list before shopping.

The editors of the Michigan survey concluded that "What happens to consumer sentiment in the months ahead is chiefly dependent on whether the government is able to rebuild confidence in its economic policies."

The government, they said, plays an especially powerful role in shaping consumer economic attitudes at present, for two reasons:

1. The change in administrations has focused great attention on the government.

2. The high rate of inflation has caused consumers to have unusual interest to news concerning the economy.

The administration, in other words, is on the spot. Everyone is listening for the sounds of economic leadership, and they aren't likely to be satisfied with the sounds of their own advice restated by Washington.

Lower Minimum On Treasury Notes To Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small investors will be given another chance to put their savings into government securities as a result of a Treasury Department decision removing a $10,000 minimum purchase limit.

The Treasury said Tuesday that investments as small as $1,000 will be accepted at an auction scheduled for Oct. 23 to sell $1 billion of Treasury notes with a 4½-year term. The interest rate for the notes will be determined solely on the basis of bids submitted at the auction, the Treasury said.

The government hiked the minimum purchase to $10,000 last month after droves of small investors turned out for a sale of 9.5 per cent notes sold in August at a $1,000 minimum.

The Treasury offered no explanation for its decision to restore the lower minimum in this month's auction.

Seek Dismissal Of School Case

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys for the Cincinnati Board of Education asked that a segregation suit in federal court be dismissed, charging NAACP attorneys disobeyed a court order to reveal specific charges.

The attorneys, in a motion filed before U.S. District Court Judge David S. Porter Tuesday, complained that NAACP attorney Louis Lucas, Memphis, Tenn., failed to comply with Porter's Aug. 21 order.

The order, made at the request of the board, asked for specific information and charges from Lucas regarding the suit against the 70,000-pupil system.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of our children has epilepsy. I heard that high doses of vitamins can prevent the seizures.

At present, the medicine she is taking keeps the seizures under control, but we would like to hear more about the vitamin treatment. No one seems to know about it.

Mrs. T. A. L., Me.

Dear Mrs. L.:

A recent study was made by Dr. Claus Christiansen of the Glostrup Hospital in Denmark.

In a small group of patients, vitamin D was used to study its effect on epileptiform seizures.

His preliminary reports, on about 25 patients, seem to indicate that vitamin D reduced the number and the severity of seizures in the cases studied.

These new findings may reactivate new studies into the value of vitamin D.

Until then, by no means should you or anyone else use vitamin D without specific orders. The excellent anti-convulsant drugs now in use are proven to be effective, and should not be discarded for a treatment which is still under study.

My daughter was born by breech delivery. She seems perfectly healthy at eight months, but I worry that there may be some aftereffects.

Mr. T. H., Tenn.

Dear Mr. H.:

There is no reason why you should live in unrealistic fear that your child will run into trouble.

A "breech" delivery simply means that the child was lying upside down in the mother's womb. Normally, the head presents itself first for delivery. In the breech, the buttocks come first. Such a delivery does not impose problems on the healthy child during its growth and development.

In fact, I recall that many years ago a highly trained and well-regarded specialist in obstetrics deliberately rotated the baby during delivery to a breech presentation in order to avoid undue pressure on the head. I doubt that this method is in use at the present time, but it should indicate that there is no cause for concern.

Dairy Farmers Selling More Cows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the rate has tapered off lately, Agriculture Department figures show dairy farmers in the first nine months of this year sold off more cows than they did in the first three quarters of 1973.

A spokesman for the National Milk Producers Federation said Tuesday another round of herd culling soon may occur because of high feed prices and other production costs despite slaughter prices of dairy cows being down sharply from a year ago.

The USDA figures show producers trimmed about 127,000 cows from their herds during January through September, compared with cutbacks of approximately 114,000 head during the same nine-month periods of both 1973 and 1972.

Selling was heaviest a year ago when beef demand helped elevate slaughter prices for culled milk cows. About 30,000 were sold in September last year, compared with 8,000 last month, according to figures published by USDA's Statistical Reporting Service.

The report said total milk production in September, estimated at less than 9.13 billion pounds, was up 3 per cent from the same month last year.

That was due to higher production per cow since herd inventories — estimated at 11,132,000 head in September — were down 2 per cent from a year earlier.

According to the National Milk Producers Federation spokesman, some dairy farmers apparently slowed down herd culling because cow slaughter prices dropped so much — less than one-half of what they were a year ago — and to see what might happen to feed prices.

But new USDA crop estimates show feed grain production will be smaller than indicated Sept. 1, meaning that high prices for dairy rations will continue.

Thus, the federation spokesman said, many dairy farmers may renew herd culling soon and put a further dampener on significant increases in milk output in the near future.

Girl Home From Taiwan; Acupuncture Helps Paralysis

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Nancy Herbert, 24, who went to Taiwan for acupuncture treatment hoping to walk again, came home feeling better and brought her new doctor with her.

"I'm going to walk or die trying," said Miss Herbert, "I decided to come back when my doctor said he was going to join his brothers in San Francisco."

"That's when I went to work," she laughed. "I told him he might as well come home with me to Cincinnati where there are no Chinese doctors. He's never seen snow either."

Dr. David Chou, a 31-year-old Burmese-Chinese acupuncture specialist and general practitioner, is planning to set up practice here. He is a medical doctor, has passed U.S. medical examination tests to enter the country and headed the Chinese Medical Center in Taipei.

Miss Herbert suffered a spinal chord injury in an auto accident when she was 16. Doctors first said she would be a "vegetable."

She regained the use of her upper body bit by bit, however, and feeling returned to most of the remainder of her body as she pursued therapy and underwent numerous operations.

A friend she met at the Mayo Clinic arranged for her to stay with his family in Taiwan while she underwent acupuncture.

"I'd like for David to meet and treat Gov. George Wallace of Alabama," said Miss Herbert, who is now able to raise her legs independently, although she can't walk yet.

"He (Wallace) referred me to his (acupuncture) doctor in New York when I wrote to him several years ago," she said.

No-Knock Law Voided

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to repeal a controversial no-knock law which allows federal agents to search residences in some instances without identifying themselves.

The measure was sent to the Senate Tuesday on a voice vote.

The 1970 law was designed to help crack down on drug offenders. It allows federal judges to issue warrants authorizing Justice Department agents to break into residences unannounced for searches in cases where the property being sought might be destroyed or the agents would be in danger if they knocked.

In calling for repeal of the law earlier this year, the House Commerce Committee said there have been cases in which Justice Department agents "in their eagerness to crush illicit drug trafficking, have mistakenly broken into the homes and apartments of dozens of innocent families, terrorizing the occupants and heavily damaging property."

'Frisking' Expert Good Teacher

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — In those police films on television and in the movies, the good guys can frisk the bad guys for weapons in seconds and never miss a thing.

If the action was for real and the bad guy was Alfonso "Pete" Conde, the television and movie policemen might never come back for the next reel.

"Pete" Conde earns his living as a Canton detective sergeant. He donates his time to the Canton Police Academy as professor of frisking. It's his contribution to saving the lives of other policemen.

"One little mistake and they can be dead in half a minute," Conde said. Join Conde's frisking class at the academy a couple of weeks ago.

The graying veteran of 24 years on the Canton police force walked into the classroom dressed in dark jacket and slacks. Around his waist he wore two heavy revolvers in holsters. Otherwise he appeared normal.

For 30 minutes Conde lectured on frisking and the importance of being thorough. Then he called up Walter Young, for nine months a member of the Hartsville, Ohio, police force.

Policeman Young searched Conde — thoroughly, he thought. After finding four guns, he stepped back.

Then Conde unloaded his arsenal. He had 12 other guns secreted about his person. He also had dynamite blasting caps, a file, a saw blade, brass knuckles, razor blades and three knives.

One of the 12 missed guns, a .22 caliber with a one-inch barrel, nestled cosily in Conde's left hand throughout the search.

"With any one of these weapons I could have killed him in half a minute," Conde said. "I try to impress on the men that they shouldn't quit looking after they find one gun."

"There are so many places they can be hidden, and if you miss one it can endanger your life."

Conde didn't stop there. He showed the class other items in his clothing — keys, pens or pencils — can be used effectively as weapons.

He held up a ballpoint pen. "This is not a weapon," he said. "But, what if I use it to hit you in the ear?" He slashed with his arm to demonstrate the pen's puncture power.

"You can't conduct a proper frisk just patting a suspect down," he said. "You have to pinch him to be sure he doesn't have any hidden weapons — not hard enough to cause black-and-blue marks but you must grab some of the clothing and meat."

It isn't so easy fooling the class, either. When Conde dresses for the frisking class he needs a helper and 30 minutes to put on all his paraphernalia.

Handguns are strapped under his arms, or around his waist under an elastic girdle and outer belt. Fingernail files and hacksaw blades can be hidden under the belt or in a necktie. Pills and drugs can be hidden in the bottom of a cigarette lighter. "We have to train these cadet police

Miss Tereasa Stevens Weds Daniel Filipski

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL FILIPSKI

Miss Tereasa Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stevens, Circleville, became the bride of Daniel Filipski on Sept. 14th, 5:30 p.m., in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Filipski of Bedford Heights.

The Rev. Father Joseph Hilinski, cousin of the bridegroom, officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with two arrangements of yellow mums.

Miss Anne Ferrell, soloist, and Mr. Thomas Sullivan, organist, presented the program of wedding music for the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She selected for her wedding a candlelight silk organza designed gown with a fitted scalloped bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace enhanced with crystal beading, high neckline and full bishop sleeves with wide fitted lace cuffs. The demi bell silhouette skirt with vertical bands of Venice lace and a wide bordered hemline of scalloped re-embroidered alencon lace flowed into a sweep train. Her chapel length mantilla of silk illusion, bordered with matching Venice lace, fell from a camelot headpiece. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow roses and mums with a sprinkle of baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Lisa Stevens, sister of the bride. The bride's attendants were Miss Lisa Henderson, Miss Lisa Williams, Miss Cindy Rihl, Miss Teresa Filipski, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Patricia Filipski. All wore identical gowns of yellow floral print sheer designed with empire bodices, halter neckline and floor length A-line skirts. To complete their ensemble each wore a matching ruffled jacket with ruffled neckline and short ruffled sleeves which tied on the side with a bow and streamers. Each attendant carried a single yellow sweetheart rose with yellow ribbon streamers.

Miss Lisa George was flower girl. She wore a long empire yellow satin gown trimmed in matching lace and carried a single yellow sweetheart rose. Master Jeffrey Stevens, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and wore a yellow satin Eton suit.

Serving as best man was Thomas Filipski, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Michael Stevens and Mr. Chuck Stevens, brothers of the bride, Mr. Lowell Evans, Mr. Michael Newton and Mr. John Brinning.

The bride's mother wore a formal length long-sleeved gown in a fall array of colors with matching gold accessories. Her corsage was yellow sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore a pastel sleeveless formal length A-line gown with matching cape and accessories. Her corsage was yellow sweetheart roses.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Shea, godparents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Longava, godparents of the groom. Mrs. Judy George, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book at the reception.

A reception at the Elks ballroom immediately followed the ceremony. The five-tiered wedding cake was topped with a nosegay of yellow mums, daisies and roses and surrounded with greenery. Guests were seated at tables decorated with yellow and peach dotted swiss flowers. The bridal party and guests danced to the music of The Ambers.

Following a wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the couple now resides at 2326 A Fitzroy Pl. N., Columbus.

The bride, a graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by Gertrude W. Donahey, Treasurer of State. The groom, a graduate of Bedford Heights High School, attended Kent State and Franklin University and is a Columbus firefighter.

Coach Griffith New Spark Of Enthusiasm

By STEVE MORRISON

A new spark of enthusiasm and spirit has reached Logan Elm High School this year. His name is Perry Griffith and he came to Logan Elm to be its head football coach.

Griffith is well liked by students, staff and athletes. Always smiling, he appears to be a quiet, humble person — up to a certain point!

As the players already knew, the students and staff found, at a recent pep rally, that he wasn't just another face in the crowd.

It all happened this way. Griffith walked into the pep rally where only a fraction of students appeared to be cheering. It was beneath his nature to see such a pitiful sight and he gave the whole student body an enthusiastic talk. Many couldn't believe the sight, but you should have heard the crowd roar and cheer after coach was through!

Coach Griffith thinks the Logan Elm student body is a group of "nice kids", and the school is "peachy."

Damopolous Featured Teacher

By KAREN ADAMS

The Logan Elm Brave reporter is proud to feature teacher Nick Damopolous. He is from Columbus and has two brothers and two sisters.

Damopolous attended San Diego University and Ohio State University.

He will teach drama, novels, mythology, poetry, reader's theatre and values clarification to the sophomore class. Asked his importance of these subjects, Damopolous stated, "If the student learns to read well, that gives him an opening to the modern world of literature."

He also coaches offensive and defensive backs in football and is the junior varsity basketball coach.

Teacher Makes History Class Interesting

By KAREN EWING

Doyle Wiggins has recently been to Europe for three summer trips and on each trip he has taken a series of slides. As in years past, Wiggins has presented these slides to the eighth grade students at the McDowell Exchange School.

The program was presented in two, two-hour sessions correlated with American History classes.

Wiggins has long been interested in travel and now has helped the students to understand history better because he has adapted his slide program for classroom use.

He will be in charge of many history tours this year. Those interested in travel should contact Wiggins at the McDowell Exchange School.

'Truth' Delights LE Students

By STEVE MORRISON

On a seemingly dull Thursday afternoon, when all seemed routine, Logan Elm had the privilege of tuning in on a fantastic, out of the ordinary, instrumental and singing group called "Truth."

Their main purpose in singing, which made them so unique, was to relate a message about Jesus Christ and how he gives real love, meaningful life, and happiness.

They were a smiling, enthusiastic group with lots of spirit. The spirit they possessed seemed to be coming from the One they were singing about.

The whole scene made some students uncomfortable, while others were totally thrilled and clapped along with the beat.

In spite of all that could be said about the group, not one person at Logan Elm could deny the beauty and shine with which "Truth" performed their songs and performance.

Undoubtedly, the majority would confirm that the spirit of Jesus Christ was at Logan Elm that afternoon.

A special thanks to the group and to Bob Bensonhaver, Dow West and Frank Ferguson who were among the fine people who made the whole beautiful scene possible.

'Hard Times' To Appear

Clyde Fausnaugh and The Hard Times will appear 9:15 p.m. Thursday, 6:15 p.m. Friday and 4:45 p.m. Saturday at the W. Main St. platform as part of the free entertainment offered at the Pumpkin Show.

Band members are as follows: Roger White, piano; Bud Mansell, fiddle; Damon Thaxton, bass; Steve Addy, lead guitar; Gene Clifton, drums and Clyde Fausnaugh, vocalist.

GTE Completes Cable Project

Completion of a major cable addition for growth in the Williamsport exchange was announced today by General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the project was designed for future growth in the area to provide basic service for new customers.

The $17,100 project was not affected by the curtailment in the construction budget by the company July 24.

The new cable serves the eastern section of the exchange. Where possible the cable was buried. Portions of the new cable will replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons.

The Williamsport exchange serves 707 telephones in a 53.8 square-mile area of Pickaway and Ross counties.

STUDENTS' PUMPKIN SHOW—Students in Mrs. Ramsey's room at Washington Twp. School constructed a bulletin board depicting the many festivities of Pumpkin Show as a class project.

Renewal Dates Announced For Permits

Director Richard E. Guggenheim of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced that beginning in 1975, there will no longer be one uniform expiration date for permits.

Ohio's permit holders, who for eight years have all renewed their permits on October 1, will now be designated one of four expiration dates. The staggered renewal procedure, pursuant to Ohio Revised Code Section 4303.27 enacted in August, 1973, is intended to provide a more orderly system of renewing permits in the State of Ohio.

"Replacing the present annual peak load by a more evenly divided workload throughout the year will result in a much smoother, more convenient system," Director Guggenheim commented.

Under the new system, the department has divided (alphabetically by county name) the state's permit holders into four groups, each group having its own expiration date.

Annual fees for permits are unchanged, and the new system provides adjustments so that annual charges remain the same for each permit holder. The first renewal under the new system will be on Feb. 1, 1975 and will affect all permit holders in 18 counties. Their permits will be good for one year. However, since they are already paid up through Oct. 1, 1975, they will be charged for only four months to extend their permits until Feb. 1, 1976.

The second group of permit holders, affecting 21 counties, will renew their permits by May 1, 1975, and the permits will be good for one year. However, they will be charged for only seven months, so that they will be paid up from October 1, 1975 to May 1, 1976.

Similar adjustments will be made for the third group, which has its renewal on Aug. 1, and the fourth group, which renews its permits on Nov. 1.

Second National Bank Organized In 1863

OLD PROPERTY—The Second National Bank's old building is the only remaining property in Circleville a portion of the property lines of which are a part of the original circle as first laid out. The building was built in 1843 by S. Marfield, Son and Company, expressly for a banking house. As described in Williams Circleville Directory of 1859, "In architectural elegance and symmetry, as well as in adaptation to the business for which it was built, it is probably unsurpassed by any building in the West."

The Second National Bank of Circleville, Ohio, was organized on October 17, 1863, under the provisions of the National Currency Act of 1863 and was granted National Bank Charter No. 172 on December 26, 1863. This financial institution became a reality after President Abraham Lincoln signed the National Currency Act of 1863 which established a system of Federally chartered banks for the Nation.

On February 7, 1864, The Exchange Bank of Circleville, a private co-partnership, voted to discontinue operations; and its assets were sold to the recently organized Second National Bank. When Second National acquired The Exchange Bank, they moved into the then new banking quarters at 135 West Main Street. The building had been built by the Marfield family in 1848 as a building for their own private bank while later it became the home for The Exchange Bank. Second National remained in that location for approximately 100 years.

Prominent pioneer family names associated with the bank and the development of Pickaway County were: Noah S. Gregg, Dr. Marcus Brown, Samuel Rogers, Samuel B. Ruggles, Otis Ballard, Jr., J. A. Hawkes, Samuel Turney Ruggles, G. A. Schleyer, C. F. Abernathy, E. E. Winship, William Foresman, S. H.

OU-L Features Sex Lecturers

The students and faculty of Ohio University-Lancaster campus, are bringing Dr. John F. Cuber and his wife Peggy to the campus this coming Wednesday. He will speak on the topic "Sex and the Significant Americans" in the Thomas Ewing Jr. High School auditorium at 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend free. Tickets or reservations are not needed.

Dr. Cuber and his wife Peggy are noted authors, lecturers, and sociological researchers in the area of sex, marriage, and family.

Five years ago they also spoke in the OU-L auditorium to a standing room only attendance. At that time they talked about their research in the area of Upper Middle Class sexual and family life styles.

Their research was later written up into a best selling book and later reprinted by popular demand in paperback form.

The longest recorded burial alive is one of 100 days ending on Sept. 17, 1968, in Skegness by Mrs. Emma Smith of Ravenshead, Nottinghamshire, England. The coffin was at a depth of 10 feet.

FOP Seeks End To Tiff On Building

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Fraternal Order of Police President Elmer Dunaway, under union fire for hiring a non-union contractor to build the organization's new lodge, hopes to resolve the furor with a meeting of all parties next Thursday.

"I think we can work this out," said Dunaway Tuesday. He invited labor leaders, FOP Lodge 69 officials and the contractor, Eugene Wolfe.

Wolfe, however, enroute to a Florida vacation, indicated he might not attend.

"I don't need a hassle," he said.

The Cincinnati Labor Council, with 100,000 members, and the Cincinnati Building Trades Council with 14,000, promised retaliatory measures if construction begins.

Wolfe, who stopped groundbreaking plans Tuesday, offered to sell his contract to the unions for $1.

He said he purposely bid low "to do the police a favor."

Wolfe insisted his workers make the same wages paid by union contractors. He said he could bid lower because of better efficiency.

The unions announced plans to picket the site in western Hamilton County if construction begins.

They also called for a boycott of the annual policemen's ball.

Glenn Heading For Landslide?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A dozen years after he became the first American to orbit the earth, John H. Glenn Jr. appears headed for a landslide victory in his third attempt to win a Senate seat from Ohio.

His triumph in space was followed by a decade of disappointment in politics. In 1964, Glenn dropped out of a Senate race after he fell in his bathtub and was injured. In 1970, he lost in a Democratic primary upset to Howard H. Metzenbaum.

Last May, Glenn finally defeated Metzenbaum, and now, polls show him far ahead of his Republican rival, Mayor Ralph Perk of Cleveland. Victory could propel him onto the national political scene as a potential 1976 vice presidential candidate.

Until recently, Perk has been concentrating on his duties as mayor. But he announced he would go on half-salary this month to concentrate on the campaign after becoming angered at reports he had decided against a stretch drive to overtake Glenn.

Though state Republican Chairman Kent McGough contends Perk "could surprise people," most Ohio observers think the only question in the Nov. 5 election is the size of Glenn's majority.

When he campaigns, Glenn still demonstrates the celebrity status he attained in 1962 when he rode a Mercury spacecraft three times around the world and returned to a hero's welcome. Children and matrons seek his autograph. Grown men beam when he shakes their hand.

If that's not enough, notes state Democratic Chairman William Lavelle, "Glenn has the advantage of no record, no history in which he alienated anyone. He has no enemies and a weak opponent in a Democratic year."

But there is strain with Gov. John J. Gilligan, a fellow Democrat. Glenn has never forgiven Gilligan for appointing Metzenbaum last December to the vacancy created when Republican Sen. William B. Saxbe resigned to become attorney general.

Glenn already is indicating he wants a say in state party affairs, bolstered by the expectation he will win the Senate race by a far bigger margin than Gilligan is likely to gain in his race against former Gov. James J. Rhodes.

The most recent polls show Gilligan, 53, about 15 points ahead of the 65-year-old Rhodes, a drop from his 20-25 point margin 60 days ago. Though Lavelle predicts a substantial win for Gilligan, GOP Chairman McGough declares "Either side could win. The momentum is with Rhodes."

In the Senate race, however, McGough concedes that Perk is behind.

The 61-year-old Cleveland mayor told a recent press conference, "My first priority must be to the city of Cleveland. I do have commitments I do not think I can ignore."

He said he planned to concentrate on explaining "the financial stability we are seeking for the city's mass transit system and the city government."

Then, amid reports that he would forsake a heavy stretch drive, the mayor said he would go on half pay as mayor while concentrating his campaigning in the populous northeastern Ohio industrial areas—Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Canton—in which Glenn ran poorly in 1970.

Court Adds Lady To Parole Staff

Joyce Valentine, the newest addition to the staff at Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, has been hired as the full-time parole officer. Miss Valentine works from the Adult Parole Authority's district office in Columbus under the supervision of Ron Darling who regulates parole officers in multi-county area of Unit 5.

JOYCE VALENTINE

Probation officers in the Columbus district are required to report to the central headquarters one day per week to discuss current cases and any problems which may arise in their court with the supervisor. The Pickaway County court has been without a full-time probation officer for a time and Ron Shanbron, also an officer out of the Columbus office, has been working part-time with Miss Valentine. Shanbron has however, been promoted to a supervisory position and the local court will be assigned a regular part-time officer. The new officer will work in the county three days per week and will also be

Commissioners Petitioned To Clean Ditch

Circleville Twp. trustees have filed a county ditch petition with Pickaway County Commissioners to clean up a ditch in the area of Dunkle Rd.

The petition contains the names of about 100 residents who will benefit from the action.

Commissioners granted General Telephone Co. of Ohio permission to bury telephone cable beginning at County Road 21 and 22 and extending east along the north side of 22 to a point approximately 150 feet north of the intersection and then to the east side about 950 feet north.

regulated by the Columbus office.

Miss Valentine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine, Route 1, and is a graduate of Logan Elm High School. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State University where she majored in sociology. She said she had always been interested in the probation work and had taken courses in college in criminology.

As an officer with the Adult Parole Authority, she sits in on the criminal proceedings in the common pleas courtroom and prepares pre-sentence reports on most of the defendants sentenced out of that court. A pre-sentence report is an intensive background investigation of the defendant's prior records, lifestyle, education and other factors. It also includes the recommendation made by the probation officer regarding sentence.

Presently, 26 probationers are under the authority of the new probation officer but she said she expects that number to increase considerably as she becomes more experienced. She began her career with the Adult Parole Authority on Sept. 1, but was only assigned to the local court about three weeks ago. She underwent an initiation period in which she traveled to other county courts in the area and observed other probation officers in action.

Miss Valentine said the most recurrent problem she has encountered so far in her new job is the reaction of the probationers when they report to a woman officer. She said that although the number of women in the field is increasing, still only about 30 to 40 women hold parole positions in the state.

As a probation officer in her home county, she said her greatest goal was to be as fair as possible to the probationers and still keep the best interests of the community foremost. She said she would have no qualms in recommending a prison term for a person who was really a threat to society.

She will be required to keep personal tabs on those probationers assigned to her and will visit them at home as well as at their places of employment. A probation officer has the authority to have a person arrested for disobeying court orders.

With probation becoming more and more popular with court authorities throughout the state, Miss Valentine said she expected her workload to increase.

PTO News

WASHINGTON PTO

After open house classroom visitations, the October meeting of the Washington Township Parent Teacher organization was opened by the pledge to the flag. Elmer Winner gave the opening selection.

Mrs. Jacqueline Shrader's fifth grade won the room count. The room mother committee reported that there had been a good response from women willing to bake so they will continue to serve cookies at the meetings except for the Christmas program.

Dale Drake, principal, expressed a need for up-to-date maps for each of the classes. He will work with the special projects committee to find more information on the subject.

The PTO group decided to give $30 each to the art and music teachers. The membership drive and the magazine sales were both reported to have been a success.

Classes will begin soon in speech and hearing and remedial reading since the therapist and the reading teacher have completed their testing.

David Price will be at the school the last week of October to meet with those students interested in instrumental music. He will be at the school for one and a half hours per week beginning Nov. 4.

Drake congratulated Darla Brown on being selected to represent Washington School in the Little Miss Pumpkin Show contest.

Mrs. LaFontaine announced a committee of five will be selected from the PTO members to come to the school and observe with the principal. This committee will be appointed as soon as a complete list of the members is compiled.

There was some discussion about tearing down the old garage behind the school to make another basketball court and provide more parking space. The special projects committee will bring this before the Logan Elm Board of Education.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the first grade room mothers served refreshments.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Now He Must Pay

DEAR ABBY: I am a male, 29 years old. I served in the Air Force for three years. I worked with security police. I didn't like it, so I told my commander I wanted to change jobs, but he kept putting things off, so I went to the chaplain and told him I was gay and wanted out.

I was sent to a psychiatrist. He believed me and got me a lawyer and I got out with an honorable discharge.

I've been out for nearly four years. The Army recruiting office called me and asked me if I wanted to join the Army and get into nurse's training. (He said he knew by my record that I had worked in a hospital, which is true.) Naturally, I didn't give him any details about how I got discharged.

I am bored and would like to get back into the Army, but I don't want to be embarrassed. What are my chances for getting in?

NO NAME OR LOCATION PLEASE
 DEAR NO: Forget the Army. A caper like yours cost the Air Force time and money. And who knows, you might have another dodge up your sleeve.

DEAR ABBY: I recently hired a woman to work from 8 to 4 five days a week. I pay her a top salary by the hour to do the laundry and general housework.

Fanny (not her real name) arrives at 8:00 and immediately starts to prepare herself a four-course breakfast, which usually consists of fresh fruit, hot cereal, pancakes or French toast, bacon and eggs, biscuits and four cups of coffee. I provide all the food, and have never placed any restrictions on what she may have.

After breakfast Fanny takes a bath and changes into her uniform. By then it's 9:00.

She works until 12 noon, and then prepares herself an ample lunch which she eats while reading a foreign newspaper. This takes her one full hour.

At 1:00 Fanny resumes her work. Promptly at 3:00, she quits, takes another bath and changes into her street clothes. She leaves at 4:00.

Fanny is a good worker. She's honest, clean and dependable. But since she is being paid to work by the hour, I think a lunch break is all she's entitled to, and that she should bathe and breakfast on her own time. She lives less than a 30-minute drive from here.

If you agree with me, please tell me how to tell her.

FANNY'S MISSUS

DEAR MISSUS: Tell her in English, unless you can talk better in her language.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 12 years and have three children, 5, 9, and 10.

Pat makes a very good living selling. He's been with the same company ever since we've been married and has turned down many promotions because he didn't want to travel out of this state.

Now he has been offered what his boss calls "the opportunity of a lifetime"—but it would mean being away from home for two weeks out of every month. He turned it down.

His boss is cool to him, and thinks he's crazy. His parents are barely speaking to us because they think he made a big mistake, but he and I still think he made the right choice.

Abby, we like money as much as the next person, but we feel that during these years, when our children are growing up, they need a fulltime father, and to us that is more important than anything else.

Are we out of our minds?

Attorney Disbarred

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One attorney was permanently disbarred and another suspended from practice indefinitely Wednesday by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Norman S. Kahn, of Cambridge, was permanently disbarred following charges that he commingled a client's funds with his own and otherwise failed to observe statutes in connection with the handling of an estate.

In its unanimous decision, the court went a step farther than its own Board of Commissioners of Grievances and Discipline, which had recommended indefinite suspension.

Also without dissent, the court ordered an indefinite suspension of Dayton attorney Dan D. Weiner.

He was accused by the Dayton Bar Association of withdrawing from his employment as counsel. The board concurred and recommended indefinite suspension.

Find Smart Women Sexually Aggressive

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Women with high IQs are often more sexually aggressive and less sexually inhibited than women of average intelligence, a Syracuse clinical psychologist reports after a 10-year study of sexuality of highly intelligent women.

Disputing humorist Dorothy Parker's oft-quoted, "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses," Dr. Manfred F. DeMartino said in a recent interview:

"Men have been looking in the wrong direction for a long time. They should be making passes at girls who wear glasses. If anything, women of high intelligence are not only as sexy as those of average intelligence, but they are somewhat more so."

DeMartino, 45, who is also professor of psychology at Onondaga Community College, said many men believe that intelligence in women is incompatible with sexuality, and many women respond negatively to that belief.

"But I would hope as a result of these findings that women would no longer find their intelligence a detriment in lovestruck relationships. They shouldn't feel they have to hide their intelligence. The problem lies with men, in making them aware of the fact that intelligence and sexual responsiveness do go together."

DeMartino said intelligent women "tend to have feelings of high self esteem, they seem to be more adventurous, more experimental and even more innovative in their sexual relationships. They also tend to be very well informed on matters pertaining to sex."

He said the study showed that intelligent women are most sexually active between the ages of 20 and 29, and most of them characterize their sex drives as stronger than average.

DeMartino's study was based on questionnaires filled out anonymously by 327 women aged 16 to 61. The women, most of them in the genius range, were primarily from the United States, but some were from Australia, Canada, England, Italy, The Netherlands, Hong Kong, New Guinea and Switzerland.

The results of DeMartino's study are presented in a book, "Sex and the Intelligent Woman."

DeMartino said he does not plan a similar study of sexuality of intelligent men.

"You can't get them to tell the truth, and they all consider themselves experts from the age of 14, anyway."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

The spooky season is here and the library can help you and your children enter into the spirit.

Why not be different and give a "Winnie-the-Pooh" party? "The Pooh Party Book" has suggestions for easy paper bag masks and simple games that can be put together without an expensive trip to the store. And for a snack, try roasted pumpkin seeds that come from your own jack o'lantern.

Older party goers might enjoy creating their own make-up at the home of their hostess before trick or treating. "The First Book of Stage Costume and Make-up" has illustrations showing special effects from odds and ends. There are many ways to achieve a glamorous look which would delight any young girl. 20th Century Fox film studios assisted with the book along with teachers at Beverly Hills High School.

If you choose an Indian party theme, many simple games are available in "Let's Be Indians" by Peggy Parish. The cup-on-a-stick game of skill requires only a paper cup, string and a stick. The Indians didn't waste things so you know these ideas are practical.

Don't overlook children's magazines as resources. "Child Life", "Jack and Jill" and "Pack of Fun" all have party foods, games and decorations.

Giving a party is a big incentive for the beginning cook to use her skills. "Easy Cooking" has a recipe for marshmallow crisp candy. It requires no candy thermometer, no messy chocolate and takes only a few minutes cooking time. And there is a recipe for a spooky sundae in "How To Make Elephant Bread." Only ice cream, marshmallows and coconut are used. Maybe the children could be given the ingredients and assemble their own party treat.

There are several records with simple games like the hokey-pokey and Mexican clap hands. There are bound to be high spirits at a halloween party so why not work off their energy with some fast moving dancing and activity games?

Have you ever been asked by your children why we have Halloween? Helen Borten's holiday book tells where the jack o'lantern originated and who first begged for candy.

No October should go by without reading a few scary stories. "Scat, the Witch's Cat" has a happy ending and shouldn't frighten even the youngest reader. "The Witch's Egg" has large scary pictures and, best of all, the witch is transformed into a good witch at the end. "Dorrie" is a good hearted little witch who lands in trouble trying grown-up tricks. This is a series so there's always one more "Dorrie" book to read.

"Let's Catch A Monster" is good fun for children who read independently. Maybe in your own family an older sister has tried to scare her younger brother. That's the theme of this adventure that takes place on Halloween.

Ohio Republicans Open State Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republicans hoping to spark the gubernatorial campaign of James A. Rhodes met here today in a state convention that will endorse a platform promising no new taxes and more state and money for education.

The party's Resolutions Committee worked all day Wednesday drafting a document that party officials say will hit hard on Democratic spending and taxes, aid to education and handling of the state welfare program.

"Our concern is inflation and the proper management of the state dollar," said State Senate President Protem Theodore Gray, the chairman of the committee.

Former Gov. Rhodes has emphasized all of these areas in his campaign against Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan. However, one party official said a number of Rhodes proposals would not be included in the package approved by the 23-member committee.

"We wanted a platform that every Republican who is running on the ballot could agree with," the GOP source said.

Rhodes, a former two-term governor, is widely believed to be trailing in his contest with Gilligan, although the margin varies depending on which poll one subscribes to.

The convention will be keynoted during an afternoon session by Lt. Gov. John W. Brown after a welcoming address by Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, and remarks by Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk, the party's underdog candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Rhodes will be the final speaker, Bidwell Man Killed While Unloading Steel

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Tom Blaine, 28, of Bidwell in Gallia County, died Tuesday after he was electrocuted while unloading steel with a crane, authorities said. Blaine and two other men were holding the steel steady when the crane touched high tension lines. The other two men were hospitalized.

sometime during the early evening if everything runs on schedule, which is usually the case at state get-togethers.

In between the faithful will hear from all of the statewide candidates as well as U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., former National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, and State Chairman Kent McGough.

The delegates are expected to approve the platform in its final version without any major disputes.

Oakland Rips Dodgers, 5-2

OAKLAND (AP) — The embattled Oakland A's have the Los Angeles Dodgers staggering on the ropes and plan to finish off the National League champs tonight with Vida Blue's left-handed punch.

"I'd be disappointed if we don't end it tonight," said third baseman Sal Bando after the A's took a commanding 3-1 lead in the 1974 World Series with a 5-2 victory Wednesday night. "We think very positively."

With Don Sutton on the mound, the Dodgers aren't dead yet — but it may be just a matter of time. Even if they don't win tonight, history is on the A's side. Rarely has a team come back from a 3-1 deficit to win a World Series. It's only happened three times — 1925, 1958 and 1968.

"We'd like to win tonight, but if we don't, we'll go on down to Los Angeles and finish it," said Bando.

The A's hold the upper hand in this wacky series despite internal unrest, a condition that has been common with this oddball team for some time now.

The latest episode involves Gene Tenace, a sensitive player who was lifted from the lineup by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley prior to Wednesday night's game. Tenace's reaction ranged from humiliation to rage. He branded the A's eccentric owner inhumane.

Tenace, who had played first base for the first three games of this World Series, found out about the lineup change after a team meeting during which Finley gave a pep talk.

"I had to be told by coach Bobby Winkles," said Tenace, still simmering in the clubhouse a few minutes after Wednesday night's significant victory. "Neither Finley nor (Manager Alvin) Dark would tell me. I felt humiliated."

While Tenace burned, Finley kept the rest of the A's smoldering with his pregame meeting. He read some inflammatory remarks from Los Angeles star Bill Buckner that appeared in a local newspaper.

"Buckner said that we have three good ballplayers and that the other 22 are no good," Finley said. "I told them to go out and prove that he's wrong."

The A's did just that — and got excellent performances from some of those people that Buckner had termed inferior to the Dodger talent.

Jim Holt, a pinch-hitter who had been in a terrible batting slump, rifled a two-run single in a four-run sixth inning that broke the game open. Dick Green knocked in a run and made some fabulous defensive plays at second base. And Ken Holtzman and Rollie Fingers, two pitchers that Buckner probably wouldn't mind having on his team, silenced the usually noisy Los Angeles bats.

Holtzman not only dominated the Dodgers most of the time he was in there, but also hit a home run, something the A's have had a tough time doing lately.

Talking about his drive off Andy Messersmith that gave the A's a 1-0 lead in the third inning, Holtzman said: "He got behind me and I was looking for a fastball — and I got it."

The euphoria felt by his home run was quickly dampened by the Dodgers in the next inning. They took a 2-1 lead over Oakland's 19-game winner on a two-run triple by Bill Russell. It quieted the crowd for a while, but they had plenty to shout about in the Oakland sixth.

Bill North led off with a walk and moved to second when Messersmith threw wild past first attempting to pick him off. The A's took advantage of the Dodger mistake, of course. They've been doing it all Series long.

Bando drove in the tying run with a lazy, looping single to right field. Proud of his first hit in this Series, the stocky third baseman announced jokingly: "I hit the hell out of it."

Then Messersmith walked Reggie Jackson and got into more trouble when Joe Rudi sacrificed the runners along. Messersmith then issued an intentional walk to Claudell Washington, who was starting in place of Tenace, and the bases were loaded for the A's.

Holt was announced as the pinch-hitter for Ray Fosse despite a streak of recent frustration. Before the World Series, Holt had gone hitless in 25 appearances as a pinch-hitter. He came through in Saturday's first game, however, and then came through again Wednesday night with a clean base hit to right that gave the A's a 4-2 lead.

Green then grounded into a forceout and Washington came home with the A's fourth run of the inning. It was all over at that point, but the Dodgers didn't know it. They struggled and squirmed while Holtzman held them at bay and then started to make some noises in the eighth inning.

Jimmy Wynn, leader of the Dodgers' long-ball offense this season, walked with two out and Steve Garvey, another of their gold-plated hitters, singled to left with two away. Dark wasted little time in calling in Fingers, whose handlebar moustache is as renowned as his fine relief pitching.

Fingers struck out the dangerous Joe Ferguson for the last out of the inning, then got through the ninth with the help of a dazzling double play started by the omnipresent Green.

"We can't afford to think negative because we're down three games to one," noted Garvey, refusing to play dead. "You can bet we'll be back tomorrow."

Paul Brown Eyes Football Crown

CINCINNATI (AP)—Paul Brown is making a strong case for senior citizens.

Handed his pink slip more than a decade ago and told his methods were over-the-hill, the feisty "old master" is back making a bid for king-of-the-hill.

"You get your fun from accomplishment," said the 66-year-old Cincinnati Bengals boss, the old-timer of the National Football League coaching family.

Sunday he'll be going after his 200th professional football victory—a magic figure reached by only two other men in the game's history.

But Brown has no illusions about gaining the milestone easily.

The fast-starting Bengals, 4-1, face the powerful Oakland Raiders in Oakland.

"It couldn't be a much tougher assignment," said Brown, now in his 40th year of coaching.

The former Miami of Ohio quarterback shrugs off his glossy list of achievements. It's business as usual with the balding, grim-faced veteran.

"Records don't concern me. They are nice, but there are more important things to be concerned with," he said as the frisky Bengals gun for tying their best start in seven years of existence.

"All I'm thinking about is our next game," he added.

Both the Bengals and Raiders lead their respective divisions. Each have 4-1 records.

Brown's next victory elevates into rare company. Only George Halas of the Chicago Bears and Earl "Curly" Lambeau of Green Bay have more victories.

Halas, who coached 40 pro seasons has a 320-147-30 record. Lambeau, the longtime Packer coach, ended up with a 231-133-13 mark.

"You can't sit back and revel in what happened last Sunday," said Brown, whose record stands at 199-91-9.

"There's always something new in every game. It's always changing," he said.

Brown was released by the Cleveland Browns in 1962 after the club slumped to a 7-6-1 record. It was a bitter departure for the man who founded the NFL club and guided the club through its glory years.

He spent five frustrating years out of football, mostly sight-seeing in Europe, before the game he loved beckoned again.

He took over as coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals from the outset in 1968 and has surprised the NFL with two division titles in the club's first six years.

Tigers Will Try To Hurdle Unioto

Unioto, "a team that is better than their record" according to Circleville Coach Larry Cook, will be the next hurdle for the Tigers enroute to a South Central Ohio League championship.

CHS and the Shermans will clash Friday at 8 p.m. on the Unioto field.

Fans attending the game may drive south on Route 23 and turn right onto Route 35 near Chillicothe. After driving several miles on Route 35, turn off at the Route 104 North intersection. The Unioto field is located almost directly across from the Chillicothe Correctional Institute.

Unioto is 0-2 in the SCOL, losing to Washington C.H. 31-13 and Greenfield 21-0. However they are 3-3 overall and possess great team size.

The 1-2 punch of the Shermans is a pair of 190-pound running backs, Dan Anders and Bob Matson. Both have rolled for over 400 yards rushing so far this year.

The Sherman offensive line is the key to the attack, with guards weighing 230 and 215 pounds, and tackles going at 210 and 165.

Unioto hasn't been clicking as an offensive unit this year primarily because of the absence of a consistent passing attack.

Sherman quarterback Scott Dailey is last in the SCOL stat list in passing, hitting on 14 of 48 for 29 per cent. He has passed for 178 yards and has been intercepted four times.

Interceptions and other mistakes have cost Unioto dearly in their games.

As an example, in last week's loss to Greenfield, the Shermans fumbled the ball eight times and lost seven of them.

It was Greenfield's fourth shutout as they held Unioto to 107 total yards, all on the ground. In contrast, the Tigers ran for 170 yards and quarterback Kevin Kensinger passed for 119 more on six of 13 completions.

The win upped Greenfield's league mark to 1-2 and kept them in a tie with Circleville for second place in the league.

Washington C.H. maintained its perfect league mark and upped its season total to 5-1 with a come-from-behind 14-10 win against Wilmington.

The Hurricane dominated the first half and took a 10-0 lead into the lockerroom. They threw the Blue Lions for 71 yards in losses and intercepted three passes.

Wilmington had a chance to put the game out of reach when they got the ball on the WCH three. However, they could not convert.

The Hurricane stopped WCH late in the game on a pass interception near mid-field. However, the Blue Lions caused and recovered a Wilmington fumble on the next play and scored the winning points with about a minute left in the game.

Washington C.H. managed 46 yards rushing in the game, while Wilmington's Jackie Watson rolled for 144 in 16 carries. The Hurricane team had a net rushing total of 139 yards.

Hillsboro, the other SCOL entry, was crushed by Adena 24-8 in a non-league clash. Hillsboro, 0-2 in the league and 2-4 overall, gained 62 yards rushing and 95 more through the air on 6 of 20 passes.

Adena, a Scioto Valley Conference team, rushed for 269 yards and picked up 23 passing in gaining their fourth win in six games.

Coach Cook, his team battling a flu bug all week, is pushing good, sound, solid football to his charges in preparation for Unioto, one of the most physical teams in the league.

"We have to go down there in the proper state of mind," he said, to win the game. The Tigers travel to Washington C.H. next Friday for what could be the league-deciding ball game.

But Unioto is the stumbling block this week.

Coach Cook, in analyzing last week's important win over Miami Trace, said his team never lost its poise or gave up. And that was the key to the win.

(61), and Luke Lawhorn (71). In the second row are Biff Bumgarner (48), Alan Van Vliet (51), Brent Mancini (15), Danny Marshall (88), Jeff Lackey (86), Tim Hartinger (65), and Tom England (72).

Scott Bowman the offensive lineman of the week, Tim McNaughton the defensive lineman of the week, Brent Mancini the top defensive back, Rick Sampsill the specialty team Tiger, and Dave Bond the practice Tiger of the week.

There was no offensive back award given due to poor blocking performances by the offensive backfield.

The coaches also gave out 28 black helmet stars.

Tim George Wins Slot With Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tim George was at home listening to the news Monday night, and it was over the airwaves that he found out he would be one of the Cleveland Browns' starting wide receivers this weekend.

"It was kind of a shock when I heard it," George said. "I didn't think the receivers did that bad a job. But it's a great opportunity and I think I can do the job."

George is getting a first line shot this week as a part of Coach Nick Skorich's attempt to pull the Browns out of the doldrums.

Skorich was so anxious to make the changes that they were decided right after the Cincinnati Bengals whipped the Browns 34-24 on Sunday. They were announced the next day before any weekly practice was held.

George is a newcomer to the Browns. They picked him up two weeks ago, while he was without a job in the National Football League. The Bengals released him on waivers prior to the start of this season.

"Getting cut by the Bengals may turn out to be a good break for me in the long run," George said. "It would be two or three years before I got a chance to play (for Cincinnati), and those guys are real good and young too."

"Those guys" are two of the best receivers in the NFL — Isaac Curtis and Charlie Joiner.

The Bengals thought enough of the 6-foot-5, 210-pound receiver to draft him in the third round in 1973.

George said he didn't expect anything different when he came to

Philadelphia Bell Loses

By HOWARD SINER
AP Sports Writer

A record low 750 fans turned out at 90,000-seat JFK Stadium on a rainy night in Philadelphia for a World Football League game. The hapless Bell responded by trailing all the way and losing again.

The Shreveport Steamer triumphed 30-25 Wednesday night with quarterback D.C. Nobles throwing to Rick Eber for touchdown passes of 27 and 39 yards. The second TD pass scored the winning points.

"I don't know if it was the World Series, the weather or what," said Philadelphia runner John Land. "But that's the smallest crowd that I can ever remember playing in front of."

In other WFL games Wednesday night, Memphis beat Florida 25-15, Charlotte blanked Chicago 27-0, Southern California trimmed Birmingham 29-25 and Portland edged the Hawaiians 3-0.

Cleveland, because he expected that Bengal Coach Paul Brown had a major influence on the Browns organization.

Brown left Cleveland as head coach in 1962, but George said "the organization, practices and things like that are very much the same."

Most pro football teams' plays are similar so George hasn't been concerned about the transition.

"I just have to learn the different terminology," George said.

George started in a half dozen games for the Bengals last year and caught two passes for 28 yards. He received his college experience at Carson-Newman where he also earned a bachelor's degree in physical education.

"I'm still going to school," the 22-year-old said. "I'm working on my master's degree and I hope to use it to become a coach someday."

Arch Griffin Challenged In Rushing

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big Ten football race has a long way to go, but Ohio State's famed Archie Griffin faces a strong challenge in his bid to retain the conference rushing championship.

After two league games, the ball-carrying leader is busy Courtney Snyder of Indiana with an average of 151.5 yards, while Griffin is next with 122.5, official statistics disclosed today.

Snyder, 194-pound sophomore, bulled 160 yards on 28 carries in Indiana's 34-3 upset of Minnesota last Saturday. He has carried a league high of 60 times, compared with 44 by Griffin.

However, the Bounding Buckeye, who carried for 112 yards on 18 thrusts in Ohio State's 52-7 pasting of Wisconsin, may turn things around when the Hoosiers invade Ohio State this Saturday.

Griffin now has rushed over 100 yards for 16 straight games as he heads into man-to-man showdown with Snyder at Columbus, Ohio.

Another Buckeye star, quarterback Cornelius Greene, not only ranks No. 3 in rushing but also leads the conference in scoring and passing.

Greene, with a 111.5 rushing average, is tops in passing with 14 completions in 19 tosses for a .737 percentage and 217 yards, and has scored 24 points on four touchdowns.

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Palace Guard," a tart, lively book about the Nixon White House, isn't exactly the kind of scholarly work a history professor might write. Personal opinions abound, fine-print footnotes don't.

The tone is in the classic feisty manner of the Texas Observer. But the Texan who co-authored it insists it wasn't written in that spirit.

"I like to think it's written in its own spirit," laughed Dan Rather, the hard-nosed CBS correspondent the network transferred from the White House beat to "CBS Reports" after Nixon resigned as president in August.

"It's as close to the truth as we could make it without cutting the truth, that is, watering it down ... what we attempted to say was, 'Here it is as best I could make it out.'"

Rather's collaborator was Gary Paul Gates, a CBS news writer. Since CBS bars leaves of absence, Rather said, Gates quit CBS to work full time on the project for six months, then was rehired by the network.

Some of the book's observations are funny, such as its portrait of economic adviser Arthur Burns: "His ample thatch of pewter-grey hair was precisely parted down the middle, as though to indulge the slightest deviation might make him look raffish."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't overspend in an effort to impress others. In fact, wading out of your depth financially in any way would be extremely foolish now.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your venus highly auspicious. Both artistry and imagination stimulated. Use both well and results will please.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good day for attaining one of your cherished goals. Someone behind the scenes is working in your interest.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): An excellent period for teamwork. Many useful ideas will result from an exchange of views with associates. Some good news indicated in the p.m.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day calling for careful discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect more vital matters. As with Cancer, you may get some good ideas from others.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Weigh fitness and the validity of proposed action carefully. Keep eyes on the farthest horizon possible as you steer your course.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Despite a few obstacles, many benefits and new means of attainment are indicated. Especially favored: romance, travel, family interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A new surge of energy should carry you far along the road to success and recognition. But be sure of your goals. Don't go off on tangents.

Berry Denies Prosecution Conspiracy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Mayor Theodore M. Berry denied there was any political conspiracy to prosecute James Hardy, head of a local activist group called "Solving Black Problems Now."

Hardy was convicted earlier in the week on charges of sending a threatening letter to Police Chief Carl Goodin.

Berry, in a speech Wednesday to city council, said he had received a copy of the same letter but dismissed it as a crank.

"I even asked the safety director what purpose would be served by prosecuting him," said Berry, who added he had helped Hardy find a position as a construction worker trainee.

Hardy, in his trial in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court, denied sending the letter which was stamped with the headline, "Symbionese Liberation Army."

Hardy said his signature was forged. Handwriting experts said it was not. Police also said Hardy's fingerprints were on the envelope. Hardy, free on bond, is awaiting sentence.

Berry, Cincinnati's first black mayor, said he didn't want Hardy "to become any more of a martyr than he is portraying himself."

Investigate Shooting By Blind Woman

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police continued to investigate the alleged shooting of a man by an 82-year-old blind woman Wednesday.

Police said Lizzie Collins fired once and struck Clinton Warlick, 52, in the stomach with a .32-caliber bullet.

She told police Collins tried to enter her apartment during an argument.

Classes Resume After School Fire

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Classes were scheduled to resume today following a $5,000 fire Wednesday at Cincinnati Withrow High School.

Firemen reported some 2,800 students were evacuated after the fire, touched off by a welder torch, broke out in a utility tunnel under a school parking lot.

Lawyers Hammer At KSU Evidence

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Defense attorneys continue to hammer at government evidence in pretrial hearings for eight former Ohio National Guardsmen accused of violating the civil rights of Kent State University students in May of 1970.

Some of the former guardsmen were expected to testify today in support of defense motions asking to suppress statements taken by investigators following the May 4, 1970 shootings that left four persons dead and nine wounded. The defense contends that the guardsmen were not advised of their rights when they gave statements to FBI and other investigators.

Six more FBI agents testified Wednesday that they advised guardsmen of their legal rights before questioning them in 1970.

Agent Robert Burton said at the hearing in U.S. District Court that he did not recall telling a national guard officer the FBI was "out to get the guard" and that he was ashamed of the FBI's action.

The agent said none of the guardsmen he questioned ever asked whether they should have a lawyer present and those questioned signed forms waiving their rights to counsel and protection from self incrimination.

In questioning guardsmen in 1970, Burton said, he asked them to try to identify themselves and other guardsmen in a photograph of the shooting scene which was reproduced in a national magazine.

He and other agents testified that they did not know or could not recall who told them to interview the eight defendants.

Defense lawyers have sought to show in the hearings that the government agents knew whom to question only because they had access to guard records.

The guard records, containing statements made by the guardsmen following the shootings, have been ruled inadmissible at trial because the guardsmen were not advised of their legal rights.

The eight go on trial Monday.

Landmark Marijuana Case Under Review

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The Alaska Supreme Court has taken under advisement a case challenging the constitutionality of marijuana laws in what could become a landmark case in the United States.

Lawyers for defendant Irwin Ravin, an Anchorage attorney, argued Wednesday that 30,000 Alaskans have used or possessed marijuana at least once. The lawyers also cited statistics from the 1973 National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse which determined that almost 26 million Americans have tried marijuana at least once.

Ravin was arrested on a marijuana possession charge after being searched by police when he refused to sign a traffic ticket in December 1972.

Last November, U.S. District Court Judge Dorothy Tyner denied a motion to dismiss Ravin's case on grounds of unconstitutionality. A Superior Court upheld Tyner's decision.

In Ravin's appeal, the state Supreme Court will consider these questions:

—Does restriction of marijuana use in private violate U.S. and state constitutional guarantees of liberty?

—Do the restrictions violate an individual's right to privacy?

—Is it irrational to classify marijuana with other, more dangerous drugs?

—Does the legality of alcohol and the illegality of marijuana deny those who wish to smoke marijuana due process of law?

Ravin's lawyers say the burden of proof lies with the government to show there is a "compelling public interest" in prohibiting use of the drug.

Arguing for the state, Steve Dunning, an assistant district attorney, described privacy as probably the "most amorphous of all rights... this is a right which conceivably could swallow an enormous area of legislative power."

"I am not conceding this court must be convinced by the evidence," Dunning said. "If the quantum evidence (for legalization) is sufficient, I think the court should defer to the legislature."

The state high court has six months to render a decision on the challenge.

Lottery Risk Poor?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Cleveland State University mathematics professor says lottery ticket buyers are investing in "one of the worst forms of gambling" available.

Professor Warren Esty said in an interview Wednesday he thinks playing the lottery is crazy.

"The only possible justification for playing is if you buy very few tickets—say one every couple of weeks—because otherwise you're throwing away a lot of money," he said.

"The more you bet the more certain you are to lose in the long run." Esty said the odds for hitting on the lottery's Buckeye 300 drawing are one in 500,000.

On the other hand, Esty said, that doesn't mean there's anything wrong with risking 50 cents a week.

"Maybe you'll never have to work again," the professor said.

Thieves Take Farm Animal

Thieves have managed to "carry off" another farm animal in a theft at James Zimmerman residence, Route 5.

The 400-pound holstein heifer, was taken from a field located on Water Works Road, sometime between Oct. 6-16.

The animal was valued at $180.

A retired farmer, his career included 15 years at Pickaway Grain after "retirement", and he still has a parttime job cleaning the laundry at Kingston.

Tammy Reed Reigns As 'Little Miss'

By BOB BENSONHAVER
Herald Staff Writer

Sunshiny skies and warm weather added to the brilliance of the crowning of Tammy Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman, 430 John St., as Little Miss Pumpkin Show, Wednesday afternoon.

The petit little-red head took top honors as she was judged from among 134 candidates. She was sponsored by the Mound Street School where she is a first grade student.

Reigning on the Mini Queen court are, Darla Brown, first attendant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Brown, Route 5, sponsored by Washington Township School and Michelle DeLong, second attendant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeLong, Route 1, Laurelville, sponsored by DeLong Builders.

The court was selected after judges narrowed the little candidates to 34 and then to 10. The judges then talked personally, a first in the contest, to each of the ten finalists before making a decision.

Tina Rondolina, St. Petersburg Festival of State Sun Goddess; Wendell Richardson, Ohio Jaycees President and John Wade, WTVN's Company, worked hard at the task of selecting the honored trio from the beautiful Circleville and Pickaway County candidates.

Little Miss Tammy Reed and her court will represent the show in area festivals during the year.

The event, sponsored by the Circleville Jaycees, with Ed Boyer, chairman, began with the 3 p.m. parade. The Little Miss parade starts the excitement of the show as it displays the youthful beauties to the throngs of people wishing them the best.

Tammy was presented her trophy and ribbon by Brenda Weaver, 1973 Little Miss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richard Ricketts, Route 1, Stoutsville.

The Little Miss Court will ride in each of the parades including the Queen's Parade, 8 p.m. Saturday.

Pumpkin Patter

It's a long way from Kunson Air Force Base, Korea, to Circleville, but a true Roundtown native wouldn't let a little thing like the Pacific Ocean stand in the way of a visit to Pumpkin Show.

Sgt. Dennis D. Sowers has been in Korea for 6½ months, has returned home for the Pumpkin Show and a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sowers, Parkview Ave. and his wife, the former Kathy Forrest, and daughter, Alisa Lynn. He will return Oct. 27 to complete his tour of duty in Korea.

All the exhibits this year are at the Pickaway County YMCA Building on East Franklin. There just wasn't a room available in the downtown area to rent for Pumpkin Show.

Ben Gordon received a telephone message from Mrs. Ted Lewis Wednesday, regretfully reporting she will be unable to attend Pumpkin Show this year. She returned to Roundtown on many occasions with her famous entertainer husband to visit the annual event. Ted got his start in the world of music playing the clarinet for the Circleville High School Band and marching in early Pumpkin Show parades.

The Circleville Art League has a trailer at Pumpkin Show. Members of the league have their work on display and for sale at the trailer located in the Second National Bank Parking Lot.

Back to the old diet next week, but this week its pumpkin pancakes in the morning fried by Clark Martin and his crew at the Kiwanis Booth, soup at the second Baptist Church soup kitchen, fish at the American Legion stand, sausage sandwich at the Logan Elm Boosters, hamburger at Teays Valley Boosters, chicken noodle soup at Amanda-Clearcreek Booster, hot dogs at the Stoope Club Booth (the oldest one at Pumpkin Show), pumpkinburgers at the Decca booth, pumpkin pie at

Pumpkin Show Wins First World Series

Pumpkin Show won the battle of the pumpkin Wednesday, nipping challenger Half Moon Bay, Calif., by nearly two-thirds of Ralph Dreisbach's world-champion Red Hungarian.

Dreisbach's whopper outdistanced the Half Moon Bay competitor in every category, according to results of the telephonic contest carried out by Ned Harden and Mel Mello, mayor of the small California community.

Harden listed attributes of Dreisbach's squash to begin the World Series of Pumpkin. The statistics are 40-inch length, 36½ inch length, 104½ inch circumference, and 368 pounds. The later figure had to be repeated twice by Harden.

Half Moon Bay's retort, grown by

Tom Menaidis, was 25-inch length, 28-inch width, 77-inch circumference, and 131½ pounds.

Complaining that the world-record holder must be filled with buckshot, Mello immediately demanded a rematch for next year.

Harden, who said the Pumpkin Show would welcome the opportunity to again show its superiority, offered to send a pumpkin reject to Half Moon Bay, say perhaps this year's second-place, 315-pounder.

Officials from both communities will document their entries and exchange reports. However, Harden forbid the exchange of pumpkin growers, looking forward to the next World Series of Pumpkin.

In a black dress with red trim and a corsage of miniature scarlet roses, Miss May was crowned by last year's queen, Kymberly Timberlake. Miss May is 17 years old, stands 5-feet 5½-inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

Miss Diana Lorraine Caruso, Circleville High School's senior contestant, was named first runner-up to the queen. Miss Caruso is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Caruso, 531 Garden Parkway.

After holding the crown for two consecutive years, Circleville High School still claimed a high rank in the contest with Miss Caruso's position as first attendant.

The evening's activities began when the 12 contestants were dinners guests

Tragedy marred the air of festivity, as Pickaway County recorded its 14th fatality, when Ronald E. Holt, 20, 133 Villa Drive, was killed in a single-car accident, 9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital by Dr. MacNelly, Holt suffered massive head and chest injuries.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt, Detective Don Thompson, Holt was traveling south on the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road, north of Island Road when he went off the left side of the road down a 12-foot embankment.

The vehicle struck a fence post, which smashed through the windshield striking the driver. Continuing another 85-feet, the auto came to a stop after striking another fence post. The auto then began burning around the engine.

Two passengers, Dennis D. Vickers, 25, and Gregory C. Vickers, 18, 330 Walnut Creek Pike, pulled Holt's body from the mangled vehicle.

Deputy Holt used the cruiser extinguisher to control the fire until the Circleville Fire Department arrived.

Dennis Vickers was treated and released from Berger Hospital for multiple abrasions and bruises. Gregory Vickers was admitted to the hospital for bruises, abrasions and possible internal injuries.

The accident is still under investigation. Born March 7, 1954 in Lancaster, Mr. Holt was the son of Harold O. and Annabelle Sites Holt, who survive at 133 Villa Drive.

He was employed at the L-K Restaurant in Circleville. Other survivors include one brother, Donald Holt and one sister Tammy Holt, of the residence; paternal grandfather and step-grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Holt, Lancaster; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Sites, Fairfield, Pa.

The funeral service will be held 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Mader Funeral Home with the Rev. Roy Osborn officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 1 p.m. Friday.

ROYAL TRIO—The Lovely Miss Laurie May was crowned Miss Pumpkin Show 1974 during the first night of the festival. She is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. May, Route 1, and a senior at Logan Elm High School. Miss Diana Lorraine Caruso, right, was the judges' choice for the first attendant to the new Miss Pumpkin Show. Miss Caruso is the senior contestant from Circleville High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Caruso, 531 Garden Parkway. Westfall High School which claimed a member of the royal trio in last year's pageant came back again this year with another winner. Miss Lisa Creamer, left, was selected as second attendant. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kay Creamer, Route 2, Orient.

Ford Denies Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford personally told investigating congressmen today that there was no deal behind his controversial pardon of Richard M. Nixon. But he acknowledged discussing with a Nixon aide on Aug. 1 the possibility that the then-president might be pardoned should he resign.

In a lengthy opening statement he read at a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing broadcast nationally by television and radio Ford said:

"I assure you that there never was at any time any agreement whatsoever concerning a pardon to Mr. Nixon if he were to resign and I were to become President."

Ford detailed repeated contacts he had as vice president with Nixon's staff chief, Alexander M. Haig Jr., and defense attorney James D. St. Clair on Aug. 1 and 2.

In one 45-minute session with Haig on Aug. 1, Ford said, Nixon's staff chief reviewed a variety of options that included "the question of whether the President could pardon himself ... pardoning various Watergate defendants, then himself, followed by resignation ... a pardon to the President should he resign."

Ford said: "Gen. Haig wanted my views on the various courses of action as well as my attitude on the options of resignation. However, he indicated he was not advocating any of the options."

Ford went voluntarily before the subcommittee on criminal justice and the chairman, Rep. William Hungate, D-Mo., said the presidential testimony

"demonstrates his commitment to be open and candid with the American people."

Hungate said it was the first documented appearance by a sitting president before a committee of the Congress, although tradition holds there was an unconfirmed appearance by Abraham Lincoln before a House committee during the Civil War.

George Washington appeared before the first Congress in 1789, visiting the Senate chamber to discuss arrangements for Indian treaties.

The President said he met shortly after 8 a.m. on Aug. 2 with St. Clair, who told him of impending new revelations the lawyer regarded as "so damaging that impeachment in the House was a certainty and conviction in the Senate a high probability."

On the afternoon of that day, Ford said he telephoned Haig and "told him I wanted him to understand that I had no intention of recommending what President Nixon should do about resigning or not resigning, and that nothing we had talked about the previous afternoon should be given any consideration in whatever decision the President might take."

Ford said he had decided that, as vice president, he "should endeavor not to do or say anything which might affect his President's tenure in office."

At another point in his statement, Ford said:

"At no time after I became President on Aug. 9, 1974, was the subject of a pardon for Richard M. Nixon raised by the former president or by anyone representing him. Also, no one on my staff brought up the subject until the day before my first press conference on Aug. 28, 1974. At that time, I was advised that questions on that subject might be raised by media reporters at the press conference."

Ford's surprise announcement Sept. 8 that he was granting Nixon a full pardon for any crimes he might have committed as president triggered a major controversy and the accusations of a pardon-for-resignation deal.

The presidential appearance before the Hungate subcommittee originally was scheduled for last Thursday, but it was delayed until the jury in the Watergate cover-up trial was sequestered. Officials had expressed concern that widely-publicized presidential testimony could prejudice the jury.

Fair Weather Prevalent Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clear and pleasant autumn weather prevailed across most of the country today, marred only by a scattering of showers in the East and parts of the Great Lakes.

Temperatures overnight remained in the 40s and 50s in most areas outside the Deep South and the Southwest.

Southern California sizzled into the 90s Wednesday and more of the same was on tap today. Los Angeles sweltered through its hottest day in a year Wednesday, with a 99-degree high.

A cold front reaching from Maine to Florida continued to produce some showers in extreme eastern New England and North Carolina. Cape Hatteras, N.C., was soaked by nearly 2 inches of rain during the night.

Fog with visibilities less than a mile blanketed the northern and central Appalachians. Clouds also covered Michigan and eastern Wisconsin, resulting in light showers throughout Lower Michigan.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 78 at Key West, Fla., to 27 at Massena, N.Y.

Pie Winners Announced

Brenda Hoover, 128 Park St., was the Thursday winner in the Bake-A-Pumpkin Pie Contest.

Mrs. Fred Bower, 528 N. Court St., placed second; Mrs. Franklin Strous, Laurelville, was third; and Mrs. John Hapenny, 132 Park St., was fourth.

Judges were Cindy Weir and Brenda Burris of Columbia Gas of Ohio, and U.S. Navy Recruiter Lt. Ronnie Zasadani.

Directors of the contest are Dorothy Shadley and Geneva Woodward, assisted by Georgia Tigner.

Wednesday's winner was Mrs. Charles Hull, 540 Greenacre Court.

Ohio University Funds Adequate

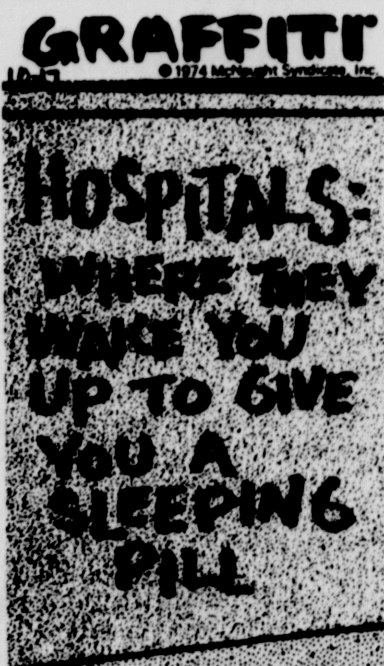

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Additional funds for Ohio University are unnecessary as a result of a decrease in enrollment from a year ago, university President Harry Crewson told a news conference Wednesday.

With adjustments and continuing frugality, Crewson said the school will have enough money to balance its budget. However, hiring will be suspended until at least June 30, he added.

Police Searching For Woman Escapee

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police are searching again for June Partridge, 31, of Cincinnati, who escaped for the third time in 32 months from custody Wednesday.

The first two escapes occurred while she was held at the detention center. Wednesday she walked out of a holding area and disappeared in the crowd in a busy courtroom.

Weather

Mostly sunny and warmer today, high, mid 60s. Clear and cool tonight, low, upper 30s. Sunny and cooler Friday, high, low 60s. Probability of precipitation zero per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 62; low, 40.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly higher today, regaining its footing after a broadly lower opening.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.16 at 447.45. In the early going, the Dow had dropped more than 2 points. Gainers were dead-even with losers on the New York Stock Exchange after declines held a 2-to-1 edge over advances in the opening hour.

The recovery in the Dow was in large part a reflection of the strength of a single stock — Eastman Kodak, up 3/4 at 68 1/4 in heavy turnover. The issue had moved sharply lower in the last two days as a result of lower third quarter earnings, but bargain hunting propped the blue chip stock up today.

Sony Corp., the most-active Big Board issue, dropped 1/4 at 54.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose 0.03 at 68.96.

The NYSE index rose 0.33 to 37.45. The most-active Amex issue, Houston Oil & Minerals, added 1/2 to 25.

Sheriff Arrests Man In Hanna Stump Case

Leroy Clifford Fuller, alias Skip Lee Saylor, was fined $750 and costs and sentenced to 90 days in the Pickaway County jail, Wednesday for leaving a corpse near Deercreek.

His arrest stems from the Sept. 1, 1973, discovery of the body of Hanna Louise Stump, 18, Columbus, on a gravel parking lot off Route 207 near Deercreek State Park.

"We were sidetracked several times," Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said, "but never slackened our investigation of the case." Radcliff said his investigators did not believe the discovery of the body indicated a homicide.

The Sheriff's Department was questioned about Fuller's alias Monday by Columbus homicide officers after he was arrested in Washington C.H. for shoplifting under the name of Saylor.

Sheriff Radcliff located the man in Jeffersonville, where he was arrested.

Fuller said he and Miss Stump shared a house in Columbus under the names of Skip and Diane Holter before Miss Stump became ill and died.

Fuller did not want to be implicated in an investigation because he was wanted by Franklin County Sheriff's Deputies for carnal knowledge of a female under 16-years-old, burglary, and larceny.

He said he placed Miss Stump's body at Deercreek so it could be easily found.

Fuller, has served time in a federal reformatory for forgery and mail fraud.

Miss Stump died of natural causes brought on by lack of proper medical care, according to Radcliff.

Group Meddling In Bonn Affairs?

By ROON LEWALD
Associated Press Writer

A spokesman for Chancellor Helmut Schmidt told newsmen Wednesday that the American Chamber of Commerce in West Germany was "very close to interfering in our affairs" by distributing a study that criticized the so-called "co-determination" bill presently before parliament.

The bill would give workers an equal vote with shareholders on boards running the 650 largest firms in the country, including 50 subsidiaries of U.S. businesses such as Ford, General Motors and IBM. Employee representatives now comprise one-third of the board in every business employing more than 2,000 workers.

The Chamber has been hostile to the proposed legislation for months. The current row began when the Chamber distributed an independent study claiming the bill violates investment protection clauses in a 1954 U.S.-German trade agreement by limiting the rights of American shareholders over their own businesses.

A copy of the study was sent to Schmidt's office. One sent to the U.S. State Department included a request that Washington intervene in behalf of the American businessmen in opposition to the bill.

A Chamber spokesman said the organization also urged U.S. parent companies of German subsidiaries to ask their congressmen to pressure the Ford Administration to do something to defeat the bill.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said Washington has not responded to the Chamber's request for support and that the Bonn government had made no formal protest of the Chamber's activities. Ford administration officials said in Washington they do not expect an early reply and classified the situation as "a delicate issue."

Car Stolen During Show

A car belonging to a Pumpkin Show visitor was stolen from its parking place near the High St. School Wednesday night.

Beulah Levin, Columbus, told Circleville Police she parked her vehicle on High St. about 7 p.m. and it was missing when she returned at 11 p.m.

The car, a maroon 1965 Chevrolet two-door, bears Ohio license B-48846. It is valued at $250.

Robert VanGundy, 327 Watt St., told police that vandals snapped the antenna on his car Wednesday or Thursday morning. The car was parked in front of his house.

Drivers Cited In Accidents

Sixty-one-year-old Joseph R. Thompson, Detroit Ave., was cited by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Deal, for driving the wrong-way on a four-lane highway, causing a two-car accident, 9:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Thompson was driving north in the southbound lanes of Route 23, north of the American Legion entrance, when a southbound car, driven by Herbert A. Cummin, 52, Route 3, Lucasville, slowed to avoid a collision.

Thompson, seeing Deputy Deal approaching, stopped to turn around, when a third southbound vehicle, driven by John T. Karnes, 30, Route 4, Hillsboro, missed Thompson, but struck the Cummin's auto.

Deputy Deal cited Larry J. Carfrey, 17, Route 3, Orient, for passing without caution, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 10:12 p.m. Wednesday.

Attempting to pass two vehicles, Carfrey failed to see a car, driven by Sharon M. Chandler, 23, Route 2, making a left turn into the A & W trailer court.

No injuries were reported in either accident.

of the Pumpkin Show Committee at the Pickaway Arms. At 8 p.m. they were star attractions in the annual Miss Pumpkin Show parade. Under a cloudless sky, the beautiful sampling of the area's loveliest young women were taken to the W. Main St. platform where the pageant was held.

This year's judges were Robert Zettler, chairman of the Central Ohio Miss America Pageant; John Potter, musical director of WTVN Radio; and William J. Finissi of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company.

The 12 contestants, selected by their junior and senior classes in the six area high schools, were called one by one to make their first walk across the stage.

Preliminary judging was done earlier in the evening as the panel of judges observed the girls during dinner and in the parade.

Each girl was then asked to respond to the following question: "I would like to be Miss Pumpkin Show because ..."

After a second appearance in which the girls were lined across the stage in the same order they were first introduced, the judges took time for final deliberations.

While the judges were making the all-important decision, Tina Rondolino Florida's Sungoddess spoke to the enthusiastic audience about her first impression of our Pumpkin Show. Miss Rondolino was hostess to the 1973 queen when she and her escorts visited the Festival of States in St. Petersburg, Fla.

With a flourished announcement and ecstatic cries from the audience, the winning trio was presented. Each of the girls was given a bouquet of giant yellow mums and a ribbon designating her title.

Miss Timberlake welcomed her lovely successor to the stage and placed the shimmering tiara on Miss May's head. Wearing the crown, token of Pumpkin Show royalty, Miss May will spend the next year as a goodwill ambassador for the Roundtown festival.

Among the gifts presented to the new Miss Pumpkin Show are an outfit from Sharff's Fashions, a gift certificate from Christopher's Don Boutique, and a year's free dry cleaning from Radcliffe Cleaners.

Miss May will visit a major festival in another state and although a final decision has not been made, the festival will be either in Michigan, Texas or Florida.

The dainty crown twinkled like a mass of stars in the strands of long dark hair as Miss May posed for photographs after the pageant. She said she "just couldn't believe it". After it was all over, she commented that the contest had gone so swiftly she wasn't expecting to hear her name called.

She will begin her exciting reign this evening on the Hugh DeMoss Show at 11 p.m. and will be featured throughout the Pumpkin Show in the magnificent parades.

Miss May's sister, Nancy, represented her junior class at Logan Elm High School in the 1966 Miss Pumpkin Show pageant.

Kym Timberlake, poised and radiant after her year's reign, made a final glorious appearance before her Pumpkin Show subjects. In a peach colored gown highlighting her soft features, she bid a grateful farewell to the title and the crown.

Although a new queen is crowned each year, the memories of that beautiful year as representative of Circleville and the Pumpkin Show, will live forever in each queen's heart.

The Pickaway Shrine Club has a food service booth at Pumpkin Show for the first time ever. Proceeds from project are earmarked for the Shrine crippled children fund.

Parking places for cars are providing the most headaches for Circleville Police as the Pumpkin Show enters its second day.

Police again remind homeowners that blockades on streets are in violation of both city and state ordinances, will be torn down if found, and the owners will be arrested if caught by police.

No parking laws are being enforced all over the city. About 25 Pumpkin Show visitors received parking tickets Wednesday night.

It is illegal to park on the east side of Scioto St. between Mound and High Sts. and on either side of N. Court St. from Pleasant St. north.

One illegally-parked car was towed away Thursday morning.

Wednesday was the biggest-ever Pumpkin Show opening, according to Ned Harden, who estimated the crowd at 60,000 persons. And it was shoulder-to-shoulder through most of the day until the evening parade ended.

Circleville Police were aided in their foot-patrol of the downtown area Wednesday night by a contingent of four Rickenbacker Air Force Base policemen.

The sodium vapor lights, which greatly illuminate the downtown area, have no noticeable effect on black-and-white film. Professional photographer Ned Schreiner, who shot some test rolls last week, reported that color film produces the manufacturer's rated results, also. Don't forget the PS photo contest deadline is Dec. 1 for this year's picture.

With the price of sugar on today's supermarket shelves, most Roundtowners expected Pumpkin Show necessities like cotton candy and candied apples to be financially out of reach. But, a closer look at the signs on the various booths in the downtown area are surprising to say the least. Prices of these sweet treats have not altered so much since the good old days of last year when sugar was a staple instead of a luxury.

Coal Approved

For years the Environmental Protection Agency has been one of the most severe critics of high-sulfur coal, frequently joining in the call for utilities and major industries to use more expensive low-sulfur fuels. Sulfur gases cause respiratory problems and damage buildings and other materials which are exposed to them.

In a reversal of past policies, EPA now says exhaust cleansing equipment installed on smokestacks has proved successful in removing most of the sulfur residue. In making its announcement the agency said large volume coal users equipped with the expensive devices are free to use high-sulfur coal again.

This coal is found in abundance in deposits in the eastern U.S., making it unnecessary, said the EPA, to strip mine public lands in the West. With the kind of exhaust cleansing systems now being installed, deputy EPA administrator John R. Charles

Jr. said. "This nation can make full use of its abundant supplies of coal without compromising people's health or creating unwanted sludge disposal problems."

That policy reversal comes at an appropriate time in the nation's energy crunch. The more utilities and major industries can be converted to coal, without significant damage to the environment, the less dependent the nation will be on foreign oil.

Wilbur Mills' Adventure

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON — The way I understand it, Rep. Wilbur Mills just happened to drop into the Junkanoo nightclub on Connecticut Avenue to inquire the way to Vespers.

How did he fall in with all those rowdy people? Well, that's easily explained. He thought they were just some fine folks from his district in Arkansas. He's running for another term, you know, and Congressmen — even the chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee — can't afford to take a chance of hurting anybody's feelings, right?

How come the 65-year-old moral force of the House of Representatives was in a big car the cops flagged down not far from old Tom Jefferson's monument, going like a bat out of heck and without lights?

Well, wise guy, it was Wilbur's car, and if a man doesn't have the right to get a little fresh air at 2 a.m., and save energy by not having the lights on, what's this country coming to?

But what about his bloody nose and those scratches on his face?

Glad you asked that, boy. Seems that one of those fine folks in the car, a Mrs. Anabell Battistella, must have drunk something at the Junkanoo that didn't agree with her. Anyway, she wanted to get out of the car while it was still speeding around the Tidal Basin.

That's when Wilbur tried to talk her out of such a crazy idea. Somehow, while he was bravely giving her the benefit of his fine wisdom, his glasses got busted and his nose started leaking. Been a lot of flu around Washington lately, you know.

Well, you know she finally got out of the car when the cops stopped it and she went over the rail and into the tidal Basin. Wilbur would have dived in and rescued her but he didn't want the cop who was holding on to him to fall down. Besides, if he had dived in to save her, it might have hurt her feelings. She knows how to take care of herself. She's a famous stripper whose stage name is Fanne Fox — the Argentine firecracker.

So where was Mrs. Mills? She would have been there, you can bet, but she has a broken foot. Besides, somebody has to watch the apartment, with all the burglaries Washington is having.

See?
Another big misinterpretation floating around Washington these days is the unfair charge that the Rockefeller boys play fast and loose with their money.

Now the professional scandal-mongers you find around here are saying that Laurance Rockefeller tossed $60,000 in a scheme to discredit former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, when Goldberg was running against Nelson in the 1970 race for Governor of New York. The sixty went into the publication of a book entitled "Arthur J. Goldberg — The Old and the New." It was a hatchet job, penned by Victor Lasky.

Well, sir, when the news broke that Laurance Rockefeller had put up all that money to smear Nelson's opponent, Nelson was the most surprised man in town.

"Had he only told me about it at the time, I would have been totally opposed to it and would have strongly advised against his participation. As it was, in all the years since, he has never even mentioned the situation to me."

Probably because it was such a piddling little sum. Can't fault old Larry for that. He'd feel pretty tight-waddish mentioning peanuts like that,

NEW YORK (AP) — The American consumer, desperately seeking guidance through the tangled mess of his personal finances, has been told by the President to balance his budget, save, waste not, economize and "do it yourself."

The advice recalls the slogans and aphorisms that gently introduce every grade-schooler to the realities of the marketplace. They are the key words and phrases of home economics courses. They are women's page standbys.

They are familiar words also because they are practiced regularly by millions of homemakers, often out of necessity rather than from choice. They are the common sense foundation of any household's financing.

Nevertheless, while such advice might be the basis for good household economics, it hardly serves as the basis for a newly announced, voluntary national program to meet the inflation-recession crisis, an economic emergency that has been compared in some respects to the 1930s.

First, it is old stuff. It is the very advice that millions of American householders have practiced almost instinctively for months and years. Many a householder must wonder if President Ford is the last to become aware of such habits.

Second, it appears to demonstrate the inability of the administration, or in fact any institution or segment of American society, to come up with believable, substantial advice for householders.

The net impact, therefore, could very well be measured as a further drop in consumer expectations, especially since so many consumers had expected that a change of administrations would be accompanied by a change in strategies.

A University of Michigan consumer survey, for example, found 63 per cent in view of Nelson's giveaways.

Another fine statement lent fresh flavor to Washington this week. Chiang Kai-shek declared war on the People's Republic of China.

"There is only one course open to us, that is for our national revolutionary force to take up the vital task of blowing the bugle for counterattack, of destroying Mao Tse-tung's thought, and overthrowing the Communist regime."

The Washington Post, not wanting to incite the people to sign up for that war, or prompt Congress to send a B-52 to Madame Chiang, played the story 'way back on page 26.

of consumers felt that economic policy would change under Ford, although many expressed their opinion as a hope rather than a belief.

Now that substantial changes have not been forthcoming, disappointment is likely to be acute, and not to be assuaged by slogans such as "Whip Inflation Now," or by Presidential admonitions to make out a list before shopping.

The editors of the Michigan survey concluded that "What happens to consumer sentiment in the months ahead is chiefly dependent on whether the government is able to rebuild confidence in its economic policies."

The government, they said, plays an especially powerful role in shaping consumer economic attitudes at present, for two reasons:

1. The change in administrations has focused great attention on the government.

2. The high rate of inflation has caused consumers to have unusual interest to news concerning the economy.

The administration, in other words, is on the spot. Everyone is listening for the sounds of economic leadership, and they aren't likely to be satisfied with the sounds of their own advice restated by Washington.

Lower Minimum On Treasury Notes To Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small investors will be given another chance to put their savings into government securities as a result of a Treasury Department decision removing a $10,000 minimum purchase limit.

The Treasury said Tuesday that investments as small as $1,000 will be accepted at an auction scheduled for Oct. 23 to sell $1 billion of Treasury notes with a 4½-year term. The interest rate for the notes will be determined solely on the basis of bids submitted at the auction, the Treasury said.

The government hiked the minimum purchase to $10,000 last month after droves of small investors turned out for a sale of 9.5 per cent notes sold in August at a $1,000 minimum.

The Treasury offered no explanation for its decision to restore the lower minimum in this month's auction.

Seek Dismissal Of School Case

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys for the Cincinnati Board of Education asked that a segregation suit in federal court be dismissed, charging NAACP attorneys disobeyed a court order to reveal specific charges.

The attorneys, in a motion filed before U.S. District Court Judge David S. Porter Tuesday, complained that NAACP attorney Louis Lucas, Memphis, Tenn., failed to comply with Porter's Aug. 21 order.

The order, made at the request of the board, asked for specific information and charges from Lucas regarding the suit against the 70,000-pupil system.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of our children has epilepsy. I heard that high doses of vitamins can prevent the seizures.

At present, the medicine she is taking keeps the seizures under control, but we would like to hear more about the vitamin treatment. No one seems to know about it.

Mrs. T. A. L., Me.

Dear Mrs. L.:
A recent study was made by Dr. Claus Christiansen of the Glostrup Hospital in Denmark.

In a small group of patients, vitamin D was used to study its effect on epileptiform seizures.

His preliminary reports, on about 25 patients, seem to indicate that vitamin D reduced the number and the severity of seizures in the cases studied.

These new findings may reactivate new studies into the value of vitamin D.

Until then, by no means should you or anyone else use vitamin D without specific orders. The excellent anti-convulsant drugs now in use are proven to be effective, and should not be discarded for a treatment which is still under study.

My daughter was born by breech delivery. She seems perfectly healthy at eight months, but I worry that there may be some aftereffects.

Mr. T. H., Tenn.

Dear Mr. H.:

There is no reason why you should live in unrealistic fear that your child will run into trouble.

A "breech" delivery simply means that the child was lying upside down in the mother's womb. Normally, the head presents itself first for delivery. In the breech, the buttocks come first.

Such a delivery does not impose problems on the healthy child during its growth and development.

In fact, I recall that many years ago a highly trained and well-regarded specialist in obstetrics deliberately rotated the baby during delivery to a breech presentation in order to avoid undue pressure on the head. I doubt that this method is in use at the present time, but it should indicate that there is no cause for concern.

Dairy Farmers Selling More Cows

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the rate has tapered off lately, Agriculture Department figures show dairy farmers in the first nine months of this year sold off more cows than they did in the first three quarters of 1973.

A spokesman for the National Milk Producers Federation said Tuesday another round of herd culling soon may occur because of high feed prices and other production costs despite slaughter prices of dairy cows being down sharply from a year ago.

The USDA figures show producers trimmed about 127,000 cows from their herds during January through September, compared with cutbacks of approximately 114,000 head during the same nine-month periods of both 1973 and 1972.

Selling was heaviest a year ago when beef demand helped elevate slaughter prices for culled milk cows. About 30,000 were sold in September last year, compared with 8,000 last month, according to figures published by USDA's Statistical Reporting Service.

The report said total milk production in September, estimated at less than 9.13 billion pounds, was up 3 per cent from the same month last year.

That was due to higher production per cow since herd inventories — estimated at 11,132,000 head in September — were down 2 per cent from a year earlier.

According to the National Milk Producers Federation spokesman, some dairy farmers apparently slowed down herd culling because cow slaughter prices dropped so much — less than one-half of what they were a year ago — and to see what might happen to feed prices.

But new USDA crop estimates show feed grain production will be smaller than indicated Sept. 1, meaning that high prices for dairy rations will continue.

Thus, the federation spokesman said, many dairy farmers may renew herd culling soon and put a further dampener on significant increases in milk output in the near future.

Girl Home From Taiwan; Acupuncture Helps Paralysis

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Nancy Herbert, 24, who went to Taiwan for acupuncture treatment hoping to walk again, came home feeling better and brought her new doctor with her.

"I'm going to walk or die trying," said Miss Herbert, "I decided to come back when my doctor said he was going to join his brothers in San Francisco."

"That's when I went to work," she laughed. "I told him he might as well come home with me to Cincinnati where there are no Chinese doctors. He's never seen snow either."

Dr. David Chou, a 31-year-old Burmese-Chinese acupuncture specialist and general practitioner, is planning to set up practice here. He is a medical doctor, has passed U.S. medical examination tests to enter the country and headed the Chinese Medical Center in Taipei.

Miss Herbert suffered a spinal cord injury in an auto accident when she was 16. Doctors first said she would be a "vegetable."

She regained the use of her upper body bit by bit, however, and feeling returned to most of the remainder of her body as she pursued therapy and underwent numerous operations.

A friend she met at the Mayo Clinic arranged for her to stay with his family in Taiwan while she underwent acupuncture.

"I'd like for David to meet and treat Gov. George Wallace of Alabama,"

said Miss Herbert, who is now able to raise her legs independently, although she can't walk yet.

"He (Wallace) referred me to his (acupuncture) doctor in New York when I wrote to him several years ago," she said.

No-Knock Law Voided

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to repeal a controversial no-knock law which allows federal agents to search residences in some instances without identifying themselves.

The measure was sent to the Senate Tuesday on a voice vote.

The 1970 law was designed to help crack down on drug offenders. It allows federal judges to issue warrants authorizing Justice Department agents to break into residences unannounced for searches in cases where the property being sought might be destroyed or the agents would be in danger if they knocked.

In calling for repeal of the law earlier this year, the House Commerce Committee said there have been cases in which Justice Department agents "in their eagerness to crush illicit drug trafficking, have mistakenly broken into the homes and apartments of dozens of innocent families, terrorizing the occupants and heavily damaging property."

'Frisking' Expert Good Teacher

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — In those police films on television and in the movies, the good guys can frisk the bad guys for weapons in seconds and never miss a thing.

If the action was for real and the bad guy was Alfonso "Pete" Conde, the television and movie policemen might never come back for the next reel.

"Pete" Conde earns his living as a Canton detective sergeant. He donates his time to the Canton Police Academy as professor of frisking. It's his contribution to saving the lives of other policemen.

Join Conde's frisking class at the academy a couple of weeks ago.

The graying veteran of 24 years on the Canton police force walked into the classroom dressed in dark jacket and slacks. Around his waist he wore two heavy revolvers in holsters. Otherwise he appeared normal.

For 30 minutes Conde lectured on frisking and the importance of being thorough. Then he called up Walter Young, for nine months a member of the Hartsville, Ohio, police force.

"Policeman Young searched Conde — thoroughly, he thought. After finding four guns, he stepped back.

Then Conde unloaded his arsenal. He had 12 other guns secreted about his person. He also had dynamite blasting caps, a file, a saw blade, brass knuckles, razor blades and three knives.

One of the 12 missed guns, a .22 caliber with a one-inch barrel, nestled cosily in Conde's left hand throughout the search.

"With any one of these weapons I could have killed him in half a minute," Conde said. "I try to impress on the men that they shouldn't quit looking after they find one gun."

"There are so many places they can be hidden, and if you miss one it can endanger your life."

Conde didn't stop there. He showed the class other items in his clothing — keys, pens or pencils — can be used effectively as weapons.

He held up a ballpoint pen. "This is not a weapon," he said. "But, what if I use it to hit you in the ear?" He slashed with his arm to demonstrate the pen's puncture power.

"You can't conduct a proper frisk just patting a suspect down," he said. "You have to pinch him to be sure he doesn't have any hidden weapons — not hard enough to cause black-and-blue marks but you must grab some of the clothing and meat."

It isn't so easy fooling the class, either. When Conde dresses for the frisking class he needs a helper and 30 minutes to put on all his paraphernalia.

Handguns are strapped under his arms, or around his waist under an elastic girdle and outer belt. Fingernail files and hacksaw blades can be hidden under the belt or in a necktie. Pills and drugs can be hidden in the bottom of a cigarette lighter. "We have to train these cadet police

Miss Tereasa Stevens Weds Daniel Filipski

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL FILIPSKI

Miss Tereasa Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stevens, Circleville, became the bride of Daniel Filipski on Sept. 14th, 5:30 p.m., in St. Joseph's Catholic Church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Filipski of Bedford Heights.

The Rev. Father Joseph Hilinski, cousin of the bridegroom, officiated the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with two arrangements of yellow mums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She selected for her wedding a candlelight silk organza designed gown with a fitted scalloped bodice of re-embroidered alencon lace enhanced with crystal beading, high neckline and full bishop sleeves with wide fitted lace cuffs. The demi bell silhouette skirt with vertical bands of Venice lace and a wide bordered hemline of scalloped re-embroidered alencon lace flowed into a sweep train. Her chapel length mantilla of silk illusion, bordered with matching Venice lace, fell from a camelot headpiece. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow roses and mums with a sprinkle of baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Miss Lisa Stevens, sister of the bride. The bride's attendants were Miss Lisa Henderson, Miss Lisa Williams, Miss Cindy Rihl, Miss Teresa Filipski, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Patricia Filipski. All wore identical gowns of yellow floral print sheer designed with empire bodices, halter neckline and floor length A-line skirts. To complete their ensemble each wore a matching jacket with ruffled neckline and short ruffled sleeves which tied on the side with a bow and streamers. Each attendant carried a single yellow sweetheart rose with yellow ribbon streamers.

Miss Lisa George was flower girl. She wore a long empire yellow satin gown trimmed in matching lace and carried a single yellow sweetheart rose. Master Jeffrey Stevens, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and wore a yellow satin Eton suit.

Serving as best man was Thomas Filipski, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mr. Michael Stevens and Mr. Chuck Stevens, brothers of the bride, Mr. Lowell Evans, Mr. Michael Newton and Mr. John Brinning.

The bride's mother wore a formal

length long-sleeved gown in a fall array of colors with matching gold accessories. Her corsage was yellow sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore a pastel sleeveless formal length A-line gown with matching cape and accessories. Her corsage was yellow sweetheart roses.

Honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Shea, godparents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Longava, godparents of the groom. Mrs. Judy George, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book at the reception.

A reception at the Elks ballroom immediately followed the ceremony. The five-tiered wedding cake was topped with a nosegay of yellow mums, daisies and roses and surrounded with greenery. Guests were seated at tables decorated with yellow and peach dotted swiss flowers. The bridal party and guests danced to the music of The Ambers.

Following a wedding trip to Orlando, Fla., the couple now resides at 2326 A Fitzroy Pl. N., Columbus.

The bride, a graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by Gertrude W. Donahey, Treasurer of State. The groom, a graduate of Bedford Heights High School, attended Kent State and Franklin University and is a Columbus firefighter.

Coach Griffith New Spark Of Enthusiasm

By STEVE MORRISON

A new spark of enthusiasm and spirit has reached Logan Elm High School this year. His name is Perry Griffith and he came to Logan Elm to be its head football coach.

Griffith is well liked by students, staff and athletes. Always smiling, he appears to be a quiet, humble person — up to a certain point!

As the players already knew, the students and staff found, at a recent pep rally, that he wasn't just another face in the crowd.

It all happened this way. Griffith walked into the pep rally where only a fraction of students appeared to be cheering. It was beneath his nature to see such a pitiful sight and he gave the whole student body an enthusiastic talk. Many couldn't believe the sight, but you should have heard the crowd roar and cheer after coach was through!

Coach Griffith thinks the Logan Elm student body is a group of "nice kids", and the school is "peachy."

Damopolous Featured Teacher

By KAREN ADAMS

The Logan Elm Brave reporter is proud to feature teacher Nick Damopolous. He is from Columbus and has two brothers and two sisters.

Damopolous attended San Diego University and Ohio State University.

He will teach drama, novels, mythology, poetry, reader's theatre and values clarification to the sophomore class. Asked his importance of these subjects, Damopolous stated, "If the student learns to read well, that gives him an opening to the modern world of literature."

He also coaches offensive and defensive backs in football and is the junior varsity basketball coach.

Teacher Makes History Class Interesting

And JACKIE COLLINS

Doyle Wiggins has recently been to Europe for three summer trips and on each trip he has taken a series of slides. As in years past, Wiggins has presented these slides to the eighth grade students at the McDowell Exchange School.

The program was presented in two, two-hour sessions correlated with American History classes.

Wiggins has long been interested in travel and now has helped the students to understand history better because he has adapted his slide program for classroom use.

He will be in charge of many history tours this year. Those interested in travel should contact Wiggins at the McDowell Exchange School.

'Truth' Delights LE Students

By STEVE MORRISON

On a seemingly dull Thursday afternoon, when all seemed routine, Logan Elm had the privilege of tuning in on a fantastic, out of the ordinary, instrumental and singing group called "Truth."

Their main purpose in singing, which made them so unique, was to relate a message about Jesus Christ and how he gives real love, meaningful life, and happiness.

They were a smiling, enthusiastic group with lots of spirit. The spirit they possessed seemed to be coming from the One they were singing about.

The whole scene made some students uncomfortable, while others were totally thrilled and clapped along with the beat.

In spite of all that could be said about the group, not one person at Logan Elm could deny the beauty and shine with which "Truth" performed their songs and performance.

Undoubtedly, the majority would confirm that the spirit of Jesus Christ was at Logan Elm that afternoon.

A special thanks to the group and to Bob Bensonhaver, Dow West and Frank Ferguson who were among the fine people who made the whole beautiful scene possible.

Completion of a major cable addition for growth in the Williamsport exchange was announced today by General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager, said the project was designed for future growth in the area to provide basic service for new customers.

The new cable serves the eastern section of the exchange. Where possible the cable was buried. Portions of the new cable will replace existing facilities for maintenance reasons.

The Williamsport exchange serves 707 telephones in a 53.8 square-mile area of Pickaway and Ross counties.

Renewal Dates Announced For Permits

Director Richard E. Guggenheim of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control has announced that beginning in 1975, there will no longer be one uniform expiration date for permits.

Ohio's permit holders, who for eight years have all renewed their permits on October 1, will now be designated one of four expiration dates. The staggered renewal procedure, pursuant to Ohio Revised Code Section 4303.27 enacted in August, 1973, is intended to provide a more orderly system of renewing permits in the State of Ohio.

"Replacing the present annual peak load by a more evenly divided workload throughout the year will result in a much smoother, more convenient system," Director Guggenheim commented.

Under the new system, the department has divided (alphabetically by county name) the state's permit holders into four groups, each group having its own expiration date.

Annual fees for permits are unchanged, and the new system provides adjustments so that annual charges remain the same for each permit holder. The first renewal under the new system will be on Feb. 1, 1975 and will affect all permit holders in 18 counties. Their permits will be good for one year. However, since they are already paid up through Oct. 1, 1975, they will be charged for only four months to extend their permits until Feb. 1, 1976.

The second group of permit holders, affecting 21 counties, will renew their permits by May 1, 1975, and the permits will be good for one year. However, they will be charged for only seven months, so that they will be paid up from October 1, 1975 to May 1, 1976.

Similar adjustments will be made for the third group, which has its renewal on Aug. 1, and the fourth group, which renews its permits on Nov. 1.

Second National Bank Organized In 1863

OLD PROPERTY—The Second National Bank's old building is the only remaining property in Circleville a portion of the property lines of which are a part of the original circle as first laid out. The building was built in 1843 by S. Marfield, Son and Company, expressly for a banking house. As described in Williams Circleville Directory of 1859, "In architectural elegance and symmetry, as well as in adaptation to the business for which it was built, it is probably unsurpassed by any building in the West."

The Second National Bank of Circleville, Ohio, was organized on October 17, 1863, under the provisions of the National Currency Act of 1863 and was granted National Bank Charter No. 172 on December 26, 1863. This financial institution became a reality after President Abraham Lincoln signed the National Currency Act of 1863 which established a system of Federally chartered banks for the Nation.

On February 7, 1864, The Exchange Bank of Circleville, a private co-partnership, voted to discontinue operations; and its assets were sold to the recently organized Second National Bank. When Second National acquired The Exchange Bank, they moved into the then new banking quarters at 135 West Main Street. The building had been built by the Marfield family in 1848 as a building for their own private bank while later it became the home for The Exchange Bank. Second National remained in that location for approximately 100 years.

Prominent pioneer family names associated with the bank and the development of Pickaway County were: Noah S. Gregg, Dr. Marcus Brown, Samuel Rogers, Samuel B. Ruggles, Otis Ballard, Jr., J. A. Hawkes, Samuel Turney Ruggles, G. A. Schleyer, C. F. Abernathy, E. E. Winship, William Foresman, S. H.

OU-L Features Sex Lecturers

The students and faculty of Ohio University-Lancaster campus, are bringing Dr. John F. Cuber and his wife Peggy to the campus this coming Wednesday. He will speak on the topic "Sex and the Significant Americans" in the Thomas Ewing Jr. High School auditorium at 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend free. Tickets or reservations are not needed.

Dr. Cuber and his wife Peggy are noted authors, lecturers, and sociological researchers in the area of sex, marriage, and family.

Five years ago they also spoke in the OU-L auditorium to a standing room only attendance. At that time they talked about their research in the area of Upper Middle Class sexual and family life styles.

Their research was later written up into a best selling book and later reprinted by popular demand in paperback form.

The longest recorded burial alive is one of 100 days ending on Sept. 17, 1968, in Skegness by Mrs. Emma Smith of Ravenshead, Nottinghamshire, England. The coffin was at a depth of 10 feet.

FOP Seeks End To Tiff On Building

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Fraternal Order of Police President Elmer Dunaway, under union fire for hiring a non-union contractor to build the organization's new lodge, hopes to resolve the furor with a meeting of all parties next Thursday.

"I think we can work this out," said Dunaway Tuesday. He invited labor leaders, FOP Lodge 69 officials and the contractor, Eugene Wolfe.

Wolfe, however, enroute to a Florida vacation, indicated he might not attend.

"I don't need a hassle," he said.

The Cincinnati Labor Council, with 100,000 members, and the Cincinnati Building Trades Council with 14,000, promised retaliatory measures if construction begins.

Wolfe, who stopped groundbreaking plans Tuesday, offered to sell his contract to the unions for $1.

He said he purposely bid low "to do the police a favor."

Wolfe insisted his workers make the same wages paid by union contractors. He said he could bid lower because of better efficiency.

The unions announced plans to picket the site in western Hamilton County if construction begins.

Glenn Heading For Landslide?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A dozen years after he became the first American to orbit the earth, John H. Glenn Jr. appears headed for a landslide victory in his third attempt to win a Senate seat from Ohio.

His triumph in space was followed by a decade of disappointment in politics. In 1964, Glenn dropped out of a Senate race after he fell in his bathtub and was injured. In 1970, he lost in a Democratic primary upset to Howard H. Metzenbaum.

Last May, Glenn finally defeated Metzenbaum, and now, polls show him far ahead of his Republican rival, Mayor Ralph Perk of Cleveland. Victory could propel him onto the national political scene as a potential 1976 vice presidential candidate.

Until recently, Perk has been concentrating on his duties as mayor. But he announced he would go on half-salary this month to concentrate on the campaign after becoming angered at reports he had decided against a stretch drive to overtake Glenn.

Though state Republican Chairman Kent McGough contends Perk "could surprise people," most Ohio observers think the only question in the Nov. 5 election is the size of Glenn's majority.

When he campaigns, Glenn still demonstrates the celebrity status he attained in 1962 when he rode a Mercury spacecraft three times around the world and returned to a hero's welcome. Children and matrons seek his autograph. Grown men beam when he shakes their hand.

If that's not enough, notes state Democratic Chairman William Lavelle, "Glenn has the advantage of no record, no history in which he alienated anyone. He has no enemies and a weak opponent in a Democratic year."

But there is strain with Gov. John J. Gilligan, a fellow Democrat. Glenn has never forgiven Gilligan for appointing Metzenbaum last December to the vacancy created when Republican Sen. William B. Saxbe resigned to become attorney general.

Glenn already is indicating he wants a say in state party affairs, bolstered by the expectation he will win the Senate race by a far bigger margin than Gilligan is likely to gain in his race against former Gov. James J. Rhodes.

The most recent polls show Gilligan, 53, about 15 points ahead of the 65-year-old Rhodes, a drop from his 20-25 point margin 60 days ago. Though Lavelle predicts a substantial win for Gilligan, GOP Chairman McGough declares "Either side could win. The momentum is with Rhodes."

In the Senate race, however, McGough concedes that Perk is behind.

The 61-year-old Cleveland mayor told a recent press conference, "My first priority must be to the city of Cleveland. I do have commitments I do not think I can ignore."

He said he planned to concentrate on explaining "the financial stability we are seeking for the city's mass transit system and the city government."

Then, amid reports that he would forsake a heavy stretch drive, the mayor said he would go on half pay as mayor while concentrating his campaigning in the populous northeastern Ohio industrial areas—Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Canton — in which Glenn ran poorly in 1970.

Court Adds Lady To Parole Staff

Joyce Valentine, the newest addition to the staff at Pickaway County Common Pleas Court, has been hired as the full-time parole officer. Miss Valentine works from the Adult Parole Authority's district office in Columbus under the supervision of Ron Darling who regulates parole officers in multi-county area of Unit 5.

JOYCE VALENTINE

Probation officers in the Columbus district are required to report to the central headquarters one day per week to discuss current cases and any problems which may arise in their court with the supervisor. The Pickaway County court has been without a full-time probation officer for a time and Ron Shanbron, also an officer out of the Columbus office, has been working part-time with Miss Valentine. Shanbron has however, been promoted to a supervisory position and the local court will be assigned a regular part-time officer. The new officer will work in the county three days per week and will also be

Commissioners Petitioned To Clean Ditch

Circleville Twp. trustees have filed a county ditch petition with Pickaway County Commissioners to clean up a ditch in the area of Dunkle Rd.

The petition contains the names of about 100 residents who will benefit from the action.

Commissioners granted General Telephone Co. of Ohio permission to bury telephone cable beginning at County Road 21 and 22 and extending east along the north side of 22 to a point approximately 150 feet north of the intersection and then to the east side about 950 feet north.

THE LAST RIDE—Kym Timberlake, Miss Pumpkin Show 1973, concluded her rein Wednesday. Her official duties included a trip to St. Petersburg Festival of States and to many of the Ohio Festivals Assn. events during the year.

regulated by the Columbus office.

Miss Valentine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine, Route 1, and is a graduate of Logan Elm High School. She holds a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State University where she majored in sociology. She said she had always been interested in the probation work and had taken courses in college in criminology.

As an officer with the Adult Parole Authority, she sits in on the criminal proceedings in the common pleas courtroom and prepares pre-sentence reports on most of the defendants sentenced out of that court. A pre-sentence report is an intensive background investigation of the defendant's prior records, lifestyle, education and other factors. It also includes the recommendation made by the probation officer regarding sentence.

Presently, 26 probationers are under the authority of the new probation officer but she said she expects that number to increase considerably as she becomes more experienced. She began her career with the Adult Parole Authority on Sept. 1, but was only assigned to the local court about three weeks ago. She underwent an initiation period in which she traveled to other county courts in the area and observed other probation officers in action.

Miss Valentine said the most recurrent problem she has encountered so far in her new job is the reaction of the probationers when they report to a woman officer. She said that although the number of women in the field is increasing, still only about 30 to 40 women hold parole positions in the state.

As a probation officer in her home county, she said her greatest goal was to be as fair as possible to the probationers and still keep the best interests of the community foremost. She said she would have no qualms in recommending a prison term for a person who was really a threat to society.

She will be required to keep personal tabs on those probationers assigned to her and will visit them at home as well as at their places of employment. A probation officer has the authority to have a person arrested for disobeying court orders.

With probation becoming more and more popular with court authorities throughout the state, Miss Valentine said she expected her workload to increase.

PTO News

WASHINGTON PTO

After open house classroom visitations, the October meeting of the Washington Township Parent Teacher organization was opened by the pledge to the flag. Elmer Winner gave the opening selection.

Mrs. Jacqueline Shrader's fifth grade won the room count. The room mother committee reported that there had been a good response from women willing to bake so they will continue to serve cookies at the meetings except for the Christmas program.

Dale Drake, principal, expressed a need for up-to-date maps for each of the classes. He will work with the special projects committee to find more information on the subject.

The PTO group decided to give $30 each to the art and music teachers. The membership drive and the magazine sales were both reported to have been a success.

Classes will begin soon in speech and hearing and remedial reading since the therapist and the reading teacher have completed their testing.

David Price will be at the school the last week of October to meet with those students interested in instrumental music. He will be at the school for one and a half hours per week beginning Nov. 4.

Drake congratulated Darla Brown on being selected to represent Washington School in the Little Miss Pumpkin Show contest.

Mrs. LaFontaine announced a committee of five will be selected from the PTO members to come to the school and observe with the principal. This committee will be appointed as soon as a complete list of the members is compiled.

There was some discussion about tearing down the old garage behind the school to make another basketball court and provide more parking space. The special projects committee will bring this before the Logan Elm Board of Education.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the first grade room mothers served refreshments.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Now He Must Pay

DEAR ABBY: I am a male, 29 years old. I served in the Air Force for three years. I worked with security police. I didn't like it, so I told my commander I wanted to change jobs, but he kept putting things off, so I went to the chaplain and told him I was gay and wanted out.

I was sent to a psychiatrist. He believed me and got me a lawyer and I got out with an honorable discharge.

I've been out for nearly four years. The Army recruiting office called me and asked me if I wanted to join the Army and get into nurse's training. (He said he knew by my record that I had worked in a hospital, which is true.) Naturally, I didn't give him any details about how I got discharged.

I am bored and would like to get back into the Army, but I don't want to be embarrassed. What are my chances for getting in?

NO NAME OR LOCATION PLEASE
DEAR NO: Forget the Army. A caper like yours cost the Air Force time and money. And who knows, you might have another dodge up your sleeve.

DEAR ABBY: I recently hired a woman to work from 8 to 4 five days a week. I pay her a top salary by the hour to do the laundry and general housework.

Fanny (not her real name) arrives at 8:00 and immediately starts to prepare herself a four-course breakfast, which usually consists of fresh fruit, hot cereal, pancakes or French toast, bacon and eggs, biscuits and four cups of coffee. I provide all the food, and have never placed any restrictions on what she may have.

After breakfast Fanny takes a bath and changes into her uniform. By then it's 9:00.

She works until 12 noon, and then prepares herself an ample lunch which she eats while reading a foreign newspaper. This takes her one full hour.

At 1:00 Fanny resumes her work. Promptly at 3:00, she quits, takes another bath and changes into her street clothes. She leaves at 4:00.

Fanny is a good worker. She's honest, clean and dependable. But since she is being paid to work by the hour, I think a lunch break is all she's entitled to, and that she should bathe and breakfast on her own time. She lives less than a 30-minute drive from here.

If you agree with me, please tell me how to tell her.

FANNY'S MISSUS

DEAR MISSUS: Tell her in English, unless you can talk better in her language.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 12 years and have three children, 5, 9, and 10.

Pat makes a very good living selling. He's been with the same company ever since we've been married and has turned down many promotions because he didn't want to travel out of this state.

Now he has been offered what his boss calls "the opportunity of a lifetime"—but it would mean being away from home for two weeks out of every month. He turned it down.

His boss is cool to him, and thinks he's crazy. His parents are barely speaking to us because they think he made a big mistake, but he and I still think he made the right choice.

Abby, we like money as much as the next person, but we feel that during these years, when our children are growing up, they need a fulltime father, and to us that is more important than anything else.

Are we out of our minds?

Attorney Disbarred

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—One attorney was permanently disbarred and another suspended from practice indefinitely Wednesday by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Norman S. Kahn, of Cambridge, was permanently disbarred following charges that he commingled a client's funds with his own and otherwise failed to observe statutes in connection with the handling of an estate.

In its unanimous decision, the court went a step farther than its own Board of Commissioners of Grievances and Discipline, which had recommended indefinite suspension.

Also without dissent, the court ordered an indefinite suspension of Dayton attorney Dan D. Weiner.

He was accused by the Dayton Bar Association of withdrawing from his employment as counsel. The board concurred and recommended indefinite suspension.

Find Smart Women Sexually Aggressive

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Women with high IQs are often more sexually aggressive and less sexually inhibited than women of average intelligence, a Syracuse clinical psychologist reports after a 10-year study of sexuality of highly intelligent women.

Disputing humorist Dorothy Parker's oft-quoted, "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses," Dr. Manfred F. DeMartino said in a recent interview:

"Men have been looking in the wrong direction for a long time. They should be making passes at girls who wear glasses. If anything, women of high intelligence are not only as sexy as those of average intelligence, but they are somewhat more so."

DeMartino, 45, who is also professor of psychology at Onondaga Community College, said many men believe that intelligence in women is incompatible with sexuality, and many women respond negatively to that belief.

"But I would hope as a result of these findings that women would no longer find their intelligence a detriment in love relationships. They shouldn't feel they have to hide their intelligence. The problem lies with men, in making them aware of the fact that intelligence and sexual responsiveness do go together."

DeMartino said intelligent women "tend to have feelings of high self esteem, they seem to be more adventurous, more experimental and even more innovative in their sexual relationships. They also tend to be very well informed on matters pertaining to sex."

He said the study showed that intelligent women are most sexually active between the ages of 20 and 29, and most of them characterize their sex drives as stronger than average.

DeMartino's study was based on questionnaires filled out anonymously by 327 women aged 16 to 61. The women, most of them in the genius range, were primarily from the United States, but some were from Australia, Canada, England, Italy, The Netherlands, Hong Kong, New Guinea and Switzerland.

The results of DeMartino's study are presented in a book, "Sex and the Intelligent Woman."

DeMartino said he does not plan a similar study of sexuality of intelligent men.

"You can't get them to tell the truth, and they all consider themselves experts from the age of 14, anyway."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

The spooky season is here and the library can help you and your children enter into the spirit.

Why not be different and give a "Winnie-the-Pooh" party? "The Pooh Party Book" has suggestions for easy paper bag masks and simple games that can be put together without an expensive trip to the store. And for a snack, try roasted pumpkin seeds that come from your own jack o'lantern.

Older party goers might enjoy creating their own make-up at the home of their hostess before trick or treating. "The First Book of Stage Costume and Make-up" has illustrations showing special effects from odds and ends. There are many ways to achieve a glamorous look which would delight any young girl. 20th Century Fox film studios assisted with the book along with teachers at Beverly Hills High School.

If you choose an Indian party theme, many simple games are available in "Let's Be Indians" by Peggy Parish. The cup-on-a-stick game of skill requires only a paper cup, string and a stick. The Indians didn't waste things so you know these ideas are practical.

Don't overlook children's magazines as resources. "Child Life", "Jack and Jill" and "Pack of Fun" all have party foods, games and decorations.

Giving a party is a big incentive for the beginning cook to use her skills. "Easy Cooking" has a recipe for marshmallow crisp candy. It requires no candy thermometer, no messy chocolate and takes only a few minutes cooking time. And there is a recipe for a spooky sundae in "How To Make Elephant Bread." Only ice cream, marshmallows and coconut are used. Maybe the children could be given the ingredients and assemble their own party treat.

There are several records with simple games like the hokey-pokey and Mexican clap hands. There are bound to be high spirits at a halloween party so why not work off their energy with some fast moving dancing and activity games?

Have you ever been asked by your children why we have Halloween? Helen Borten's holiday book tells where the jack o'lantern originated and who first begged for candy.

No October should go by without reading a few scary stories. "Scat, the Witch's Cat" has a happy ending and shouldn't frighten even the youngest reader. "The Witch's Egg" has large scary pictures and, best of all, the witch is transformed into a good witch at the end. "Dorrie" is a good hearted little witch who lands in trouble trying grown-up tricks. This is a series so there's always one more "Dorrie" book to read.

"Let's Catch A Monster" is good fun for children who read independently. Maybe in your own family an older sister has tried to scare her younger brother. That's the theme of this adventure that takes place on Halloween.

Ohio Republicans Open State Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republicans hoping to spark the gubernatorial campaign of James A. Rhodes met here today in a state convention that will endorse a platform promising no new taxes and more state and money for education.

The party's Resolutions Committee worked all day Wednesday drafting a document that party officials say will hit hard on Democratic spending and taxes, aid to education and handling of the state welfare program.

"Our concern is inflation and the proper management of the state dollar," said State Senate President Protom Theodore Gray, the chairman of the committee.

Former Gov. Rhodes has emphasized all of these areas in his campaign against Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan. However, one party official said a number of Rhodes proposals would not be included in the package approved by the 23-member committee.

"We wanted a platform that every Republican who is running on the ballot could agree with," the GOP source said.

Rhodes, a former two-term governor, is widely believed to be trailing in his contest with Gilligan, although the margin varies depending on which poll one subscribes to.

The convention will be keynoted during an afternoon session by Lt. Gov. John W. Brown after a welcoming address by Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, and remarks by Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk, the party's underdog candidate for the U.S. Senate. Rhodes will be the final speaker.

Bidwell Man Killed While Unloading Steel

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Tom Blaine, 28, of Bidwell in Gallia County, died Tuesday after he was electrocuted while unloading steel with a crane, authorities said.

Blaine and two other men were holding the steel steady when the crane touched high tension lines. The other two men were hospitalized.

sometime during the early evening if everything runs on schedule, which is usually the case at state get-togethers.

In between the faithful will hear from all of the statewide candidates as well as U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., former National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, and State Chairman Kent McGough.

The delegates are expected to approve the platform in its final version without any major disputes.

Oakland Rips Dodgers, 5-2

OAKLAND (AP) — The embattled Oakland A's have the Los Angeles Dodgers staggering on the ropes and plan to finish off the National League champs tonight with Vida Blue's left-handed punch.

"I'd be disappointed if we don't end it tonight," said third baseman Sal Bando after the A's took a commanding 3-1 lead in the 1974 World Series with a 5-2 victory Wednesday night. "We think very positively."

With Don Sutton on the mound, the Dodgers aren't dead yet — but it may be just a matter of time. Even if they don't win tonight, history is on the A's side. Rarely has a team come back from a 3-1 deficit to win a World Series.

It's only happened three times — 1925, 1958 and 1968.

"We'd like to win tonight, but if we don't, we'll go on down to Los Angeles and finish it," said Bando.

The A's hold the upper hand in this wacky series despite internal unrest, a condition that has been common with this oddball team for some time now.

The latest episode involves Gene Tenace, a sensitive player who was lifted from the lineup by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley prior to Wednesday night's game. Tenace's reaction ranged from humiliation to rage. He branded the A's eccentric owner inhumane.

Tenace, who had played first base

for the first three games of this World Series, found out about the lineup change after a team meeting during which Finley gave a pep talk.

"I had to be told by coach Bobby Winkles," said Tenace, still simmering in the clubhouse a few minutes after Wednesday night's significant victory. "Neither Finley nor (Manager Alvin) Dark would tell me. I felt humiliated."

While Tenace burned, Finley kept the rest of the A's smoldering with his pregame meeting. He read some inflammatory remarks from Los Angeles star Bill Buckner that appeared in a local newspaper.

"Buckner said that we have three good ballplayers and that the other 22 are no good," Finley said. "I told them to go out and prove that he's wrong."

The A's did just that — and got excellent performances from some of those people that Buckner had termed inferior to the Dodger talent.

Jim Holt, a pinch-hitter who had been in a terrible batting slump, rifled a two-run single in a four-run sixth inning that broke the game open. Dick Green knocked in a run and made some fabulous defensive plays at second base. And Ken Holtzman and Rollie Fingers, two pitchers that Buckner probably wouldn't mind having on his team, silenced the usually noisy Los Angeles bats.

Holtzman not only dominated the Dodgers most of the time he was in there, but also hit a home run, something the A's have had a tough time doing lately.

Talking about his drive off Andy Messersmith that gave the A's a 1-0 lead in the third inning, Holtzman said: "He got behind me and I was looking for a fastball — and I got it."

The euphoria felt by his home run was quickly dampened by the Dodgers in the next inning. They took a 2-1 lead over Oakland's 19-game winner on a two-run triple by Bill Russell. It quieted the crowd for a while, but they had plenty to shout about in the Oakland sixth.

Bill North led off with a walk and moved to second when Messersmith threw wild past first attempting to pick him off. The A's took advantage of the Dodger mistake, of course. They've been doing it all Series long.

Bando drove in the tying run with a lazy, looping single to right field. Proud of his first hit in this Series, the stocky third baseman announced jokingly: "I hit the hell out of it."

Then Messersmith walked Reggie Jackson and got into more trouble when Joe Rudi sacrificed the runners along. Messersmith then issued an intentional walk to Claudell Washington, who was starting in place of Tenace, and the bases were loaded for the A's.

Holt was announced as the pinch-hitter for Ray Fosse despite a streak of recent frustration. Before the World Series, Holt had gone hitless in 25 appearances as a pinch-hitter. He came through in Saturday's first game, however, and then came through again Wednesday night with a clean base hit to right that gave the A's a 4-2 lead.

Green then grounded into a forceout and Washington came home with the A's fourth run of the inning. It was all over at that point, but the Dodgers didn't know it. They struggled and squirmed while Holtzman held them at bay and then started to make some noises in the eighth inning.

Jimmy Wynn, leader of the Dodgers' long-ball offense this season, walked with two out and Steve Garvey, another of their gold-plated hitters, singled to left with two away. Dark wasted little time in calling in Fingers, whose handlebar moustache is as renowned as his fine relief pitching.

Fingers struck out the dangerous Joe Ferguson for the last out of the inning, then got through the ninth with the help of a dazzling double play started by the omnipresent Green.

"We can't afford to think negative because we're down three games to one," noted Garvey, refusing to play dead. "You can bet we'll be back tomorrow."

Paul Brown Eyes Football Crown

CINCINNATI (AP)—Paul Brown is making a strong case for senior citizens.

Handed his pink slip more than a decade ago and told his methods were over-the-hill, the feisty "old master" is back making a bid for king-of-the-hill.

"You get your fun from accomplishment," said the 66-year-old Cincinnati Bengals boss, the old-timer of the National Football League coaching family.

Sunday he'll be going after his 200th professional football victory—a magic figure reached by only two other men in the game's history.

But Brown has no illusions about gaining the milestone easily.

The fast-starting Bengals, 4-1, face the powerful Oakland Raiders in Oakland.

"It couldn't be a much tougher assignment," said Brown, now in his 40th year of coaching.

The former Miami of Ohio quarterback shrugs off his glossy list of achievements. It's business as usual with the balding, grim-faced veteran.

"Records don't concern me. They are nice, but there are more important things to be concerned with," he said as the frisky Bengals gun for tying their best start in seven years of existence.

"All I'm thinking about is our next game," he added.

Both the Bengals and Raiders lead their respective divisions. Each have 4-1 records.

Brown's next victory elevates into rare company. Only George Halas of the Chicago Bears and Earl "Curly" Lambeau of Green Bay have more victories.

Halas, who coached 40 pro seasons has a 320-147-30 record. Lambeau, the longtime Packer coach, ended up with a 231-133-13 mark.

"You can't sit back and revel in what happened last Sunday," said Brown, whose record stands at 199-91-9.

"There's always something new in every game. It's always changing," he said.

Brown was released by the Cleveland Browns in 1962 after the club slumped to a 7-6-1 record. It was a bitter departure for the man who founded the NFL club and guided the club through its glory years.

He spent five frustrating years out of football, mostly sight-seeing in Europe, before the game he loved beckoned again.

He took over as coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals from the outset in 1968 and has surprised the NFL with two division titles in the club's first six years.

Tim George Wins Slot With Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tim George was at home listening to the news Monday night, and it was over the airwaves that he found out he would be one of the Cleveland Browns' starting wide receivers this weekend.

"It was kind of a shock when I heard it," George said. "I didn't think the receivers did that bad a job. But it's a great opportunity and I think I can do the job."

George is getting a first line shot this week as a part of Coach Nick Skorich's attempt to pull the Browns out of the doldrums.

Skorich was so anxious to make the changes that they were decided right after the Cincinnati Bengals whipped the Browns 34-24 on Sunday. They were announced the next day before any weekly practice was held.

George is a newcomer to the Browns. They picked him up two weeks ago, while he was without a job in the National Football League. The Bengals released him on waivers prior to the start of this season.

"Getting cut by the Bengals may turn out to be a good break for me in the long run," George said. "It would be two or three years before I got a chance to play (for Cincinnati), and those guys are real good and young too."

"Those guys" are two of the best receivers in the NFL — Isaac Curtis and Charlie Joiner.

The Bengals thought enough of the 6-foot-5, 210-pound receiver to draft him in the third round in 1973.

George said he didn't expect anything different when he came to

Philadelphia Bell Loses

By HOWARD SINER
AP Sports Writer

A record low 750 fans turned out at 90,000-seat JFK Stadium on a rainy night in Philadelphia for a World Football League game. The hapless Bell responded by trailing all the way and losing again.

The Shreveport Steamer triumphed 30-25 Wednesday night with quarterback D.C. Nobles throwing to Rick Eber for touchdown passes of 27 and 39 yards. The second TD pass scored the winning points.

"I don't know if it was the World Series, the weather or what," said Philadelphia runner John Land. "But that's the smallest crowd that I can ever remember playing in front of."

In other WFL games Wednesday night, Memphis beat Florida 25-15, Charlotte blanked Chicago 27-0, Southern California trimmed Birmingham 29-25 and Portland edged the Hawaiians 3-0.

Tigers Will Try To Hurdle Unioto

Unioto, "a team that is better than their record" according to Circleville Coach Larry Cook, will be the next hurdle for the Tigers enroute to a South Central Ohio League championship.

CHS and the Shermans will clash Friday at 8 p.m. on the Unioto field.

Fans attending the game may drive south on Route 23 and turn right onto Route 35 near Chillicothe. After driving several miles on Route 35, turn off at the Route 104 North intersection. The Unioto field is located almost directly across from the Chillicothe Correctional Institute.

Unioto is 0-2 in the SCOL, losing to Washington C.H. 31-13 and Greenfield 21-0. However they are 3-3 overall and possess great team size.

The 1-2 punch of the Shermans is a pair of 190-pound running backs, Dan Anders and Bob Matson. Both have rolled for over 400 yards rushing so far this year.

The Sherman offensive line is the key to the attack, with guards weighing 230 and 215 pounds, and tackles going at 210 and 165.

Unioto hasn't been clicking as an offensive unit this year primarily because of the absence of a consistent passing attack.

Sherman quarterback Scott Dailey is last in the SCOL stat list in passing, hitting on 14 of 48 for 29 per cent. He has passed for 178 yards and has been intercepted four times.

Interceptions and other mistakes have cost Unioto dearly in their games.

As an example, in last week's loss to Greenfield, the Shermans fumbled the ball eight times and lost seven of them.

It was Greenfield's fourth shutout as they held Unioto to 107 total yards, all on the ground. In contrast, the Tigers ran for 170 yards and quarterback Kevin Kensingner passed for 119 more on six of 13 completions.

The win upped Greenfield's league mark to 2-1 and kept them in a tie with Circleville for second place in the league.

Washington C.H. maintained its perfect league mark and upped its season total to 5-1 with a come-from-behind 14-10 win against Wilmington.

The Hurricane dominated the first half and took a 10-0 lead into the lockerroom. They threw the Blue Lions for 71 yards in losses and intercepted three passes.

Wilmington had a chance to put the game out of reach when they got the ball on the WCH three. However, they could not convert.

The Hurricane stopped WCH late in the game on a pass interception near mid-field. However, the Blue Lions caused and recovered a Wilmington fumble on the next play and scored the winning points with about a minute left in the game.

Washington C.H. managed 46 yards rushing in the game, while Wilmington's Jackie Watson rolled for 144 in 16 carries. The Hurricane team had a net rushing total of 139 yards.

Hillsboro, the other SCOL entry, was crushed by Adena 24-8 in a non-league clash. Hillsboro, 0-2 in the league and 2-4 overall, gained 62 yards rushing and 95 more through the air on 6 of 20 passes.

Adena, a Scioto Valley Conference team, rushed for 269 yards and picked up 23 passing in gaining their fourth win in six games.

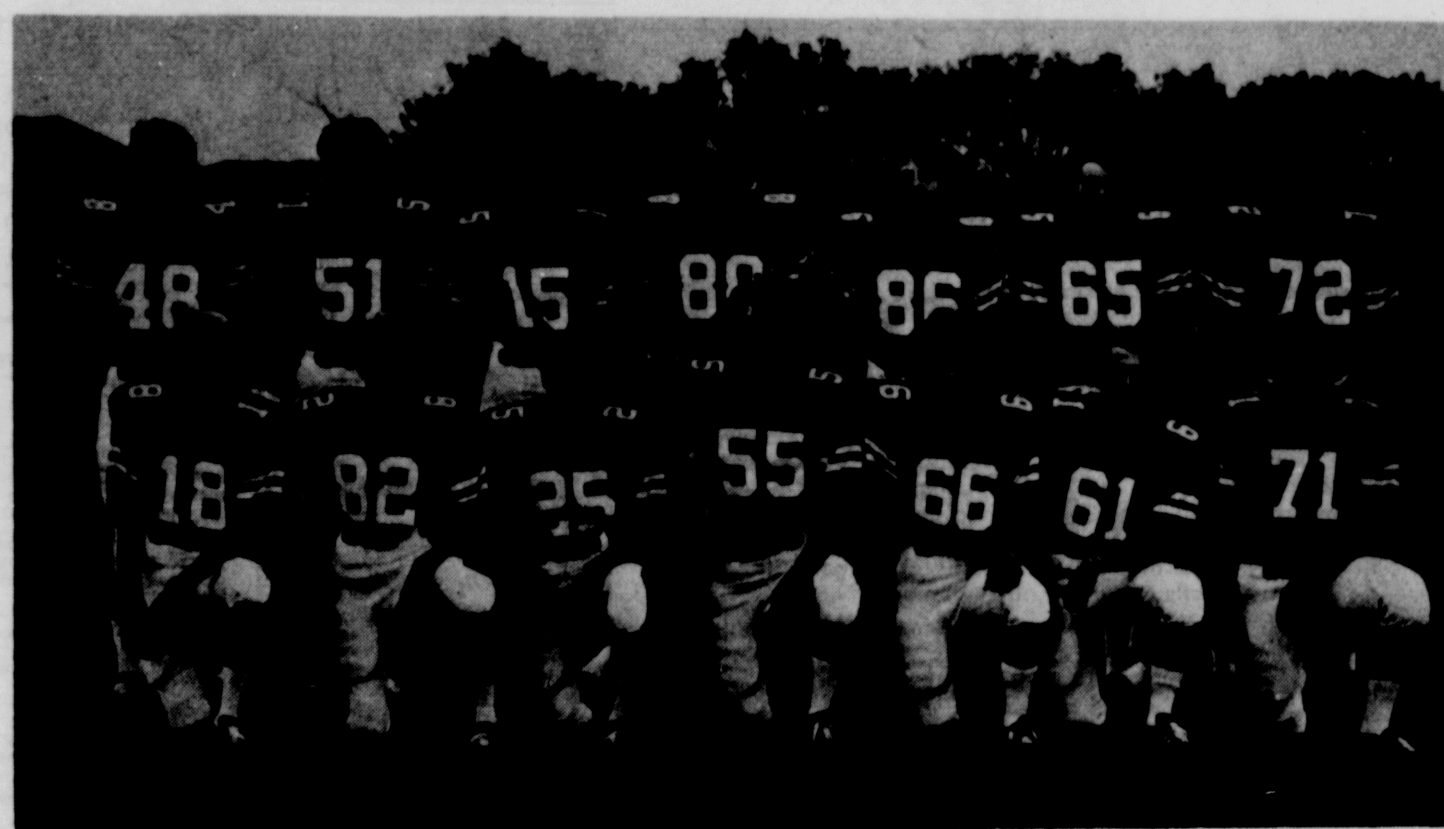

Coach Cook, his team battling a flu bug all week, is pushing good, sound, solid football to his charges in preparation for Unioto, one of the most physical teams in the league.

"We have to go down there in the proper state of mind," he said, to win the game. The Tigers travel to Washington C.H. next Friday for what could be the league-deciding ball game.

But Unioto is the stumbling block this week.

Coach Cook, in analyzing last week's important win over Miami Trace, said his team never lost its poise or gave up. And that was the key to the win.

(61), and Luke Lawhorn (71). In the second row are Biff Bumgarner (48), Alan Van Vliet (51), Brent Mancini (15), Danny Marshall (88), Jeff Lackey (86), Tim Hartinger (65), and Tom England (72).

Scott Bowman the offensive lineman of the week, Tim McNaughton the defensive lineman of the week, Brent Mancini the top defensive back, Rick Sampill the specialty team Tiger, and Dave Bond the practice Tiger of the week.

There was no offensive back award given due to poor blocking performances by the offensive backfield. The coaches also gave out 28 black helmet stars.

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Palace Guard," a tart, lively book about the Nixon White House, isn't exactly the kind of scholarly work a history professor might write. Personal opinions abound, fine-print footnotes don't.

The tone is in the classic feisty manner of the Texas Observer. But the Texan who co-authored it insists it wasn't written in that spirit.

"I like to think it's written in its own spirit," laughed Dan Rather, the hard-nosed CBS correspondent the network transferred from the White House beat to "CBS Reports" after Nixon resigned as president in August.

"It's as close to the truth as we could make it without cutting the truth, that is, watering it down ... what we attempted to say was, 'Here it is as best I could make it out.'"

Rather's collaborator was Gary Paul Gates, a CBS news writer. Since CBS bars leaves of absence, Rather said, Gates quit CBS to work full time on the project for six months, then was rehired by the network.

Some of the book's observations are funny, such as its portrait of economic adviser Arthur Burns: "His ample thatch of pewter-grey hair was precisely parted down the middle, as though to indulge the slightest deviation might make him look raffish."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't overspend in an effort to impress others. In fact, wading out of your depth financially in any way would be extremely foolish now.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your venus highly auspicious. Both artistry and imagination stimulated. Use both well and results will please.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good day for attaining one of your cherished goals. Someone behind the scenes is working in your interest.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): An excellent period for teamwork. Many useful ideas will result from an exchange of views with associates. Some good news indicated in the p.m.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day calling for careful discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect more vital matters. As with Cancer, you may get some good ideas from others.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Weigh fitness and the validity of proposed action carefully. Keep eyes on the farthest horizon possible as you steer your course.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Despite a few obstacles, many benefits and new means of attainment are indicated. Especially favored: romance, travel, family interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A new surge of energy should carry you far along the road to success and recognition. But be sure of your goals. Don't go off on tangents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): If you aim straight and do not permit emotions or a biased viewpoint to throw you off course, you will know how to cope with ALL, not some situations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Do not let a personal disappointment mar your overall perspective. Continue to aim for high goals. Your adeptness, know-how and intuition should be potent now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Just the right day to bring off something new in your occupational area. Move fast! Evening hours favor romance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Look for some unusually pleasant communications from those at a distance; also new contacts which could prove invaluable in a business way.

YOU BORN TODAY are governed by the Sign of Libra, a symbol of justice, friendship and humanitarianism. You can accomplish a great deal in a lifetime, but must learn to curb your emotions and a tendency toward excessive pride. You have a lively imagination and great love of beauty, but may express both in intellectual forms rather than in artistic ventures. You have a talent for writing which, coupled with a strong discriminatory sense, would make you an outstanding literary or dramatic critic. In fact, the theater in general is an excellent medium for your talents. Other fields in which you could excel: the law, statesmanship, diplomacy and business counseling.

Berry Denies Prosecution Conspiracy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Mayor Theodore M. Berry denied there was any political conspiracy to prosecute James Hardy, head of a local activist group called "Solving Black Problems Now."

Hardy was convicted earlier in the week on charges of sending a threatening letter to Police Chief Carl Goodin.

Berry, in a speech Wednesday to city council, said he had received a copy of the same letter but dismissed it as a crank.

"I even asked the safety director what purpose would be served by prosecuting him," said Berry, who added he had helped Hardy find a position as a construction worker trainee.

Hardy, in his trial in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court, denied sending the letter which was stamped with the headline, "Symbionese Liberation Army."

Hardy said his signature was forged. Handwriting experts said it was not. Police also said Hardy's fingerprints were on the envelope. Hardy, free on bond, is awaiting sentence.

Berry, Cincinnati's first black mayor, said he didn't want Hardy "to become any more of a martyr than he is portraying himself."

Investigate Shooting By Blind Woman

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police continued to investigate the alleged shooting of a man by an 82-year-old blind woman Wednesday.

Police said Lizzie Collins fired once and struck Clinton Warlick, 52, in the stomach with a .32-caliber bullet.

She told police Collins tried to enter her apartment during an argument.

Classes Resume After School Fire

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Classes were scheduled to resume today following a $5,000 fire Wednesday at Cincinnati Withrow High School.

Firemen reported some 2,800 students were evacuated after the fire, touched off by a welder torch, broke out in a utility tunnel under a school parking lot.

Lawyers Hammer At KSU Evidence

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Defense attorneys continue to hammer at government evidence in pretrial hearings for eight former Ohio National Guardsmen accused of violating the civil rights of Kent State University students in May of 1970.

Some of the former guardsmen were expected to testify today in support of defense motions asking to suppress statements taken by investigators following the May 4, 1970 shootings that left four persons dead and nine wounded. The defense contends that the guardsmen were not advised of their rights when they gave statements to FBI and other investigators.

Six more FBI agents testified Wednesday that they advised guardsmen of their legal rights before questioning them in 1970.

Agent Robert Burton said at the hearing in U.S. District Court that he did not recall telling a national guard officer the FBI was "out to get the guard" and that he was ashamed of the FBI's action.

The agent said none of the guardsmen he questioned ever asked whether they should have a lawyer present and those questioned signed forms waiving their rights to counsel and protection from self incrimination.

In questioning guardsmen in 1970, Burton said, he asked them to try to identify themselves and other guardsmen in a photograph of the shooting scene which was reproduced in a national magazine.

He and other agents testified that they did not know or could not recall who told them to interview the eight defendants.

Defense lawyers have sought to show in the hearings that the government agents knew whom to question only because they had access to guard records.

The guard records, containing statements made by the guardsmen following the shootings, have been ruled inadmissible at trial because the guardsmen were not advised of their legal rights.

The eight go on trial Monday.

Landmark Marijuana Case Under Review

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The Alaska Supreme Court has taken under advisement a case challenging the constitutionality of marijuana laws in what could become a landmark case in the United States.

Lawyers for defendant Irwin Ravin, an Anchorage attorney, argued Wednesday that 30,000 Alaskans have used or possessed marijuana at least once. The lawyers also cited statistics from the 1973 National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse which determined that almost 26 million Americans have tried marijuana at least once.

Ravin was arrested on a marijuana possession charge after being searched by police when he refused to sign a traffic ticket in December 1972.

Last November, U.S. District Court Judge Dorothy Tyner denied a motion to dismiss Ravin's case on grounds of unconstitutionality. A Superior Court upheld Tyner's decision.

In Ravin's appeal, the state Supreme Court will consider these questions:

—Does restriction of marijuana use in private violate U.S. and state constitutional guarantees of liberty?

—Do the restrictions violate an individual's right to privacy?

—Is it irrational to classify marijuana with other, more dangerous drugs?

—Does the legality of alcohol and the illegality of marijuana deny those who wish to smoke marijuana due process of law?

Ravin's lawyers say the burden of proof lies with the government to show there is a "compelling public interest" in prohibiting use of the drug.

Arguing for the state, Steve Dunning, an assistant district attorney, described privacy as probably the "most amorphous of all rights... this is a right which conceivably could swallow an enormous area of legislative power."

"I am not conceding this court must be convinced by the evidence," Dunning said. "If the quantum evidence (for legalization) is sufficient, I think the court should defer to the legislature."

The state high court has six months to render a decision on the challenge.

Lottery Risk Poor?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A Cleveland State University mathematics professor says lottery ticket buyers are investing in "one of the worst forms of gambling" available.

Professor Warren Esty said in an interview Wednesday he thinks playing the lottery is crazy.

"The only possible justification for playing is if you buy very few tickets—say one every couple of weeks—because otherwise you're throwing away a lot of money," he said.

"The more you bet the more certain you are to lose in the long run." Esty said the odds for hitting on the lottery's Buckeye 300 drawing are one in 500,000.

On the other hand, Esty said, that doesn't mean there's anything wrong with risking 50 cents a week. "Maybe you'll never have to work again," the professor said.

Thieves Take Farm Animal

Thieves have managed to "carry off" another farm animal in a theft at James Zimmerman residence, Route 5.

The 400-pound holstein heifer, was taken from a field located on Water Works Road, sometime between Oct. 6-16.

The animal was valued at $180.

A retired farmer, his career included 15 years at Pickaway Grain after "retirement", and he still has a parttime job cleaning the laundry at Kingston.
